DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA.

CALCUTTA TRADE FLUCTUATIONS.

THE following tables are intended to show the trade of the Calcutta Block* in certain selected articles during the month of April, 1917, by all routes, i.e., by rail, river, canal, road, and sea. The statistics have been compiled from returns furnished by the Collector of Customs, Calcutta, Railway Audit Offices, Steamer Companies, the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, the District Magistrates of the 24-Parganas and Howrah, and the Assistant Engineer, Calcutta Canals.

General Summary.

Imports.—The imports of rice, including paddy†, into Calcutta by rail, river, canal, road, and sea (coastwise) during April, 1917, amounted to 1,042,000 maunds as against 1,661,000 maunds in the corresponding month of the preceding year—a decline of 37 per cent§. There was a slight increase in the imports of coal and coke (9,552,000 maunds as against 9,402,000 maunds last year). The imports by rail, river, and road of Indian cotton piece goods showed a decrease of 11 per cent, the total value amounting to Rs. 23,67,000 as against Rs. 26,82,000 in 1916. The quantity of indigo imported during the month of April, 1917, fell by 71 per cent (200 maunds as against 700 maunds last year), the decline being solely due to the absence of any supply from Madras. The imports of raw jute amounted to 155,000 bales as against 206,000 bales—a fall of 25 per cent, while the importations of gunny bags showed an increase of 4 million bags or 11 per cent (36 million bags as against 32 millions in the preceding year). The total imports of oilseeds (linseed and rape and mustard seed) decreased by 48 per cent (867,000 maunds as against 1,661,000 maunds). There was a considerable increase in the imports of tea by 314 per cent (120,000 maunds as against 29,000 maunds), and in those of sugar by 28 per cent (82,000 maunds as against 64,000 maunds).

Exports.—The exports of cotton piecegoods, foreign, from Calcutta by all routes during April, 1917, decreased by 7 per cent (Rs. 2,24,77,000 as against Rs. 2,42,50,000 last year). The exports of gunny bags, including the exports by sea to foreign countries, increased from 44 million bags to 108 million bags. The shipments of gunny bags to foreign countries other than the United Kingdom increased by 64 million bags in the month under review, but those to the United Kingdom decreased by about one million bags. The quantity of kerosene oil despatched from Calcutta and Budge-Budge by internal routes and by sea (coastwise) increased from 470,000 maunds to 499,000 maunds.

* The Calcutta block consists of the town of Calcutta with Howrah and Kidderpore Docks.
† One maund of paddy is equivalent to 25 seers of rice.
§ The import of Burma rice into Calcutta has been prohibited with effect from April 1917.

THE CALCUTTA IMPROVEMENT TRUST.

NOTICE UNDER SECTION 63 (2) OF BENGAL ACT V OF 1911.

Plan of proposed public street No. XXVIII (Howrah Bridge approach.)

Notice is hereby given, under section 63 (2) of Bengal Act V of 1911, as amended by Bengal Act III of 1915, that the Board of Trustees for the Improvement of Calcutta has prepared a plan of Proposed Public Street No. XXVIII (Howrah Bridge Approach).

LONDON GAZETTE.

No. 1016.—The following is published for general information :—

Fourth supplement dated the 18th April 1917 to the London Gazette of the 17th April 1917, pages 3723—3733.

War Office,
18th April, 1917.

The following Despatch has been received by the Secretary of State for War from Lieutenant-General the Honourable J. C. Smuts, K. C., Commander-in-Chief, East African Force :—

General Headquarters,
East Africa,
28th February, 1917.

Sir,—I have the honour to forward the following despatch describing the operations of the forces under my command from the 28th October, 1916, to the 20th January, 1917, when I relinquished control of the forces in the field in German East Africa :—

Reorganisation.

(1) In my last despatch I described the reorganisation effected in our transport and supply services consequent on the capture of Dar-es-Salam and the restoration of the Central Railway. It remains to add a few words in reference to the reorganisation of the fighting units under my command effected at the same time. Our advance to the areas of the Rufiji and Great Ruaha rivers through numerous tsetse-haunted belts had resulted in the loss of most of the animals of the mounted troops, and the very rapid rise of the sick rate among all the troops. It was clear that white troops who had had repeated attacks of malaria or dysentery would in the further prosecution of the campaign in those extremely unhealthy areas be more of an encumbrance than a help. I therefore decided to abolish the Third Division, under Major General C. J. Brits, including the Second Mounted Brigade, under Brigadier-General Enslin, and to return these officers with their staffs to South Africa; to incorporate into the First Mounted Brigade, under Brigadier-General Nussey, all fit men belonging to the Second Mounted Brigade, and finally to evacuate from East Africa all white troops declared to be medically unfit by special medical boards. My forces, therefore, again became organised into two divisions, under Major-Generals Hoskins and van Deventer respectively, while Brigadier-General Beves' infantry brigade again became a force reserve under my immediate control. As a result of these steps close on 12,000 white troops were evacuated from East Africa between the middle of October and the end of December 1916, and their places were to some extent taken by the new King's African Rifles battalions, which I was forming and training with the sanction of the War Office, as well as by the Nigerian Brigade under Brigadier-General F. H. B. Cunliffe, C.B., C.M.G., which reached Dar-es-Salam in the second and third weeks in December.

Position of enemy at end of October.

(2) The position of the enemy on the 27th October, the date of my last despatch was shortly described in that document in the following words:—

"The net result of all these operations is that the Germans have been driven south over the Central Railway, and are now in the north-east, on the Rufiji river and about thirty miles to the north of it; in the west, along, or south and east of the Great Ruaha and Ulanga rivers; and that, with the exception of the Mahenge plateau, they have lost every healthy or valuable part of their Colony. In the east they are cut off from the coast, and in the south the Portuguese Army has appeared north of the Rowuma river.'

The retiring enemy from Tabora had reached the vicinity of Iringa and Malangali.

Distribution of our Forces at the end of October.

(3) My own forces were at the same time distributed as follows:—

In the east a force of some 2,000 rifles under Brigadier-General J. A. Hannyngton, C.M.G., D.S.O., had been conveyed by sea from Dar-es-Salam and concentrated at Kilwa and formed the nucleus of the First Division, which, after some reorganization and transfer of units, was assembled later at the same place, and was intended to take part in a great encircling move south of the Rufiji. General Hannyngton's force was in occupation of Kilwa Kiwindje and Kilwa Kissiwani, and, after some minor actions, had pushed out detachments which held Njingo, Mtumbei-Chini, Mitole, Matandu and Kibata. In view of a reported movement of the enemy towards Utete from the Mgeta front General Hannyngton had been warned to strengthen his Kibata detachment and to watch carefully towards the north. Preparations in connection with transport and supplies for the force which it was intended should eventually operate from Kilwa were in train, though progress was necessarily slow in consequence of the wide dispersion of the transport which was being collected, its conveyance by sea and the heavy losses of animals, which had to be made good throughout the forces.

Mssanga, 45 miles south-west of Dar-es-Salam, was occupied by a small column under Lieutenant-Colonel T. J. Willans, D.S.O. The presence of the enemy at Kissangire, 12 miles further to the south-west, constituted a threat to our railway communications, and an attempt by a smaller column to dislodge the enemy force had failed on the 9th October.

In the centre opposite the enemy on the Mgeta river, occupying Tulo, Duthumi, Kwa-Hongo, Dakawa and Kisaki, was the First Division under Major-General A. R. Hoskins, C.M.G., D.S.O.

On this front operations were practically at a standstill, and the conditions closely resembled those of trench warfare. The situation here underwent no change until the resumption of the general offensive at the end of December. General Sheppard's Brigade was in front line, and in reserve was the brigade formerly commanded by General Hannyngton, whose place had been taken by Colonel (later Brigadier-General) H. de C. O'Grady. I had already decided to move this last Brigade to Kilwa when the time appeared suitable for the step.

The 2nd South African Infantry Brigade, under Brigadier-General P. S. Beves, had been withdrawn to Morogoro, where it was held in reserve. As already explained the remainder of the 3rd Division to which General Beves' Brigade originally belonged, had been released from service, and the Division ceased to exist on the 24th October.

In the west the forward troops of the Second Division under Major-General J. L van Deventer were in occupation of Iringa, Njukwa's drift on the Ruaha and Kidodi; the remaining troops of the Division were on the Central Railway and concentrating preparatory to moving southwards.

The Nyasaland-Rhodesia force under Brigadier-General E. Northey, A.D.C., was partly round Iringa, but the larger portion of the force was on Ruhudje river, about Mkapira, where strong forces of the enemy were opposing us.

The situation about Iringa and to the south of that place, where detachments of the enemy force under General Wahle from Tabora were endeavouring to break through and join hands with their Mahenge troops, was at this time confused. Different encounters between patrols and detachments had occurred and communications were irregular and interrupted. General Northey at the time was often without means of communication with his troops in the Iringa area.

A battalion of South African Infantry had been sent to General Northey, and was on the way to Songea, viâ Chindé, the Zambesi and Wiedhafen.

The Lake force recently commanded by Brigadier-General the Honourable Sir C. P. Crewe, K.C.M.G., C.B., had been abolished and such of its units as were not disbanded were sent to the Second Division, with the exception of one battalion, which remained in occupation of a portion of the Central Railway eastwards from Tabora. Tabora was occupied by the Belgian forces.

Transfer of 1st Division to Kilwa and rearrangement of its troops.

(4) On the 28th October I left Morogoro for Dar-es-Salam, and thence proceeded by sea to Kilwa Kiwindje, where I saw General Hannyngton on the 31st and discussed the local situation, returning to Dar-es-Salam on the 1st November.

As a consequence of my investigations at Kilwa I decided on the early movement of General O'Grady's brigade to that place, and that General Hoskins, with his Divisional staff, should proceed to assume command of the Kilwa force.

The troops at Kilwa at this date were formed into the 3rd East African Brigade, under General Hannyngton, and a reconstituted First Division, under General Hoskins, was brought into existence by the addition of General O'Grady's brigade.

General Sheppard's brigade, which was to remain on the Mgeta front, became an independent brigade under my own direction.

General Hoskins assumed command at Kilwa on the 15th November, and the transfer of General O'Grady's brigade by road, rail and sea to the Kilwa area occupied from the 7th to the 29th November.

Delay in resuming the general offensive.

(5) Throughout November and December no general offensive was possible, and operations were confined to those undertaken by the different forces to deal with the situation as it developed in their respective areas during those two months and to adjust their positions to the requirements of the plan for combined action against the enemy when the time arrived.

The operations during November and December will be dealt with later, but I think it may be well to state some of the circumstances which contributed to the delay in our general advance.

When it became necessary to call a halt after the operations which had produced the result which has been shortly described in the second paragraph of this despatch, disease had played havoc amongst the troops, of whom large numbers were totally unfit without medical attention, prolonged rest, change of climate and nourishment to make any sustained effort. The wastage due to the above cause was enormous; and the reduction in the number of effective rifles was alone enough to stop all further movement until reinforcements were available.

The Mechanical Transport was in seriously damaged condition in consequence of the strain of continuous work over appalling roads; or trackless country, and extensive repairs, for which there had been no time, were essential. The personnel of this transport suffered, as did every other branch of the forces, from the same diseases as affected the fighting troops, and as men dropped out increasing strain was thrown on those able to keep going, until the loss of men threw scores of vehicles out of work.

Animal diseases had wiped out horses, mules and oxen by thousands, and it was necessary to replace this transport in some way or other before movement was possible.

The strain upon all ranks of all units and services due to the steadily increasing effect of disease had reached the limit which was endurable.

It is out of the question here to do more than thus barely to mention one or two of the more conspicuous of the numerous difficulties which hampered our activity during the time which elapsed between the arrival of our forces at Kissaki in the middle of September, and the resumption of our general advance on the 1st January 1917. While these difficulties were being overcome Kilwa port was being prepared as a base, and a division of troops was transferred to that theatre. This division, well south of the Rufiji, was intended to play a conspicuous part in the coming operations in the Rufiji area.

Operations of Kilwa force.

(6) At first little happened in the area occupied by our forces based on Kilwa except patrol work, in which our troops maintained the upper hand, movements of detachments, and minor encounters with the enemy. From captured documents, however, and prisoners' statements, I obtained indications of an intended offensive movement by the enemy, and more definitely of a coming attack on our detachment at Kibata. The last information induced me temporarily to modify my plans and to refrain from a movement towards Liwale as I had at first intended. The enemy force in this area was at the beginning of November estimated at ten companies

On the 8th November it was reported that the enemy was attacking Kibata on the previous day. This eventually proved to be the case, but the attack was easily repulsed with slight loss to ourselves, and the enemy withdrew on the 9th. The attack was evidently in the nature of a reconnaissance, and, in view of the probability of a renewed attempt, the necessary precautions were taken, and at the same time the feasibility of occupying Ngarambi, about 30 miles west of Kibata, was investigated.

The remainder of the month was occupied as before in patrol work, each side watching the other closely.

Our troops were in occupation of Mpotora, on the road to Liwale, on the 7th November, and the 30th November saw a battalion on the way to occupy Ngarambi, of which we took possession on the 2nd December without opposition.

Rain began in the Kilwa area early in December, and continued with some violence—though intermittently—until late in the month, seriously interfering with our movements at times.

On the 5th December considerable patrol activity was noticeable in the vicinity of Kibata, and on the afternoon of the 6th the enemy began an attack on that place which developed on the following day, when he brought several naval as well as field guns into action. The attempt to invest Kibata by the enemy continued until the 15th December, heavy attacks being delivered and repulsed on the 7th and 8th, and various outlying positions changing hands several times. On the 10th, following a determined night attack on the night of the 9th and 10th, an effort by the enemy to surround Kibata became apparent, and, to deal with this, I agreed to the temporary evacuation of Ngarambi for the purpose of the necessary concentration. On the 11th the infantry fighting was somewhat less severe, though heavy artillery fire was directed on one position. The heavy rain, and consequently bad state of the roads, prevented our artillery from coming up, and considerable casualties to our troops were thus inevitable. On the 12th December the enemy had worked further round the Kibata position to the east and south-east, but this represented the full extent of his effort to encircle the place, and on the 15th the first effects of a movement by General Hannyngton from the west against the enemy's right became perceptible, General O'Grady's brigade co-operating from Kibata.

The Gold Coast Regiment took a commanding hill west of Kibata and maintained its position in spite of heavy counter-attacks and considerable casualties, especially from the enemy's larger guns.

Communication between Kibata and Kilwa was at this time subject to constant interruption.

On the morning of the 16th General O'Grady's brigade occupied a hill 3,500 yards north-east of Kibata; from this date the situation at Kibata became devoid of incident of any special importance. We held our positions and the enemy remained inactive, except for patrol work in our front, occupying an extended line along commanding ridges, but somewhat retired from the former positions. General Hoskins on the 21st December stated his opinion that he would be able to frustrate any attempt by the enemy to move to the south by any direct route through the Matumbi mountains. At this stage I ordered General Hoskins to hold some battalions ready to move north-west when the execution of my general plan was undertaken, and advised him of my intention to proceed to the Mgeta front on the following day to direct operations.

Operations in the West.

(7) November and December were periods of considerable activity in the west, where Generals van Deventer and Northey were operating, though here, as elsewhere, the operations were mainly of a local character.

In order to deal with the enemy force which, under General Wahle, had come towards Mahenge from Tabora and was moving about the Iringa district somewhat aimlessly in various detachments, General van Deventer had pushed forward the 7th South African Infantry and a Cyclist Battalion, the latter under Lieutenant-Colonel J. M. Fairweather, D.S.O., who for the time being assumed command of the two battalions and a portion of General Northey's force under Lieutenant-Colonel T. A. Rodger, D.S.O. The two battalions from the Second Division were very weak, but the transport position had not recovered sufficiently at this time to make it possible to send greater numbers, though here, as elsewhere, the utmost effort was being made to prepare for the general advance.

If we had been able to feed a larger number of troops at this stage, south of the Central Railway, in the western area, there is little doubt that we should have handled the enemy force from Tabora far more severely than we were able to do in our difficult circumstances.

The 7th South African Infantry reached Iringa on the 23rd October, and Lieutenant-Colonel Fairweather, with the Cyclist Battalion, on the following day.

On the 25th October General van Deventer reported that the larger portion of the enemy's Tabora force had broken through southwards between Alt-Iringa and Ngominji on the night of the 22nd/23rd and had cut all communication with General Northey, who for some time remained without any means of issuing orders to his troops at Iringa. In these circumstances I placed General van Deventer in charge of the situation at Iringa, and he temporarily assumed control of Lieutenant-Colonel Rodger's portion of General Northey's force. In addition to the concentrated portion of the enemy forces above referred to, many small parties broke through in the darkness, which of course they were able to do without any fear of detection over a large front.

General Northey's forces on the Ruhudje were at the same time being attacked by superior forces.

The passage of the enemy through our lines occupied some three weeks, and this period was marked by much fighting of detachments and patrols.

The main incidents of these operations were as follows—fuller details in many instances will no doubt be available from the despatches of General Northey in due course:—

On the 23rd October a patrol of Rhodesian askaris, under command of Lieutenant-Colonel Baxendale, was ambushed and lost 33 in killed, wounded and missing, with one machine gun. It is to be regretted that Lieutenant-Colonel Baxendale was among those who lost their lives.

On the 25th a small detachment of the 4th South African Horse encountered a strong force at Malangamagara wells, 12 miles north of Iringa, and inflicted a heavy defeat on the enemy, of whom many were killed and captured. The enemy abandoned all their sick and wounded after this action, and the Commanding Officer wrote asking for their protection by us.

On the 29th October a small post at Ngominyi was compelled to surrender to a very superior strength of the enemy after a resolute and gallant defence. Two naval 12-pounder guns lost here were retaken by us in the course of operations almost immediately afterwards. Captain Clerk, commanding the post, was killed.

A detachment of some 12 Rhodesian askaris at Madibira was also surrounded and captured.

At dawn on the 30th October Lieutenant-Colonel Hawthorn attacked the enemy on the west bank of the Ruhudje and obtained a signal success, capturing 6 Europeans and 75 askaris unwounded, together with a 6 c.m. gun, 3 machine guns, and large quantities of ammunition and telephone and other material. Five European and 37 askari dead of the enemy were buried on the scene of the engagement.

On the 30th and 31st October our positions at Altiringa were attacked, but the attacks failed, and the enemy sustained appreciable casualties.

On the 7th November the enemy was still south of Iringa, but had attempted no offensive since his defeats at the end of October. He had left behind many sick and wounded at different camps and released considerable numbers of our prisoners of war, and the state and morale of his troops were reported as indifferent.

In the meantime arrangements had made some headway, and a column, under Colonel A. J. Taylor, was being concentrated to move at an early date from Dodoma to Iringa, while the mounted brigade of the Second Division—which since its withdrawal from the Uluguru operations in August had been resting, reorganising and refitting at Morogoro—was on its way, reduced to approximately 1,000 rifles, to Iringa.

These movements were preparatory to a concentration of General Northey's forces about Lupembe and southwards, while General van Deventer was to assume command in the neighbourhood of Iringa and link up with General Northey to the south.

On the 8th November General Northey reported an enemy concentration against Malangali, where we had a small detachment, and that he had detached 400 rifles under Lieutenant-Colonel R. E. Murray to assist the post.

The force under Lieutenant-Colonel Hawthorn had been ordered to withdraw to Lupembe.

From the 8th to 12th the post at Malangali was defended most gallantly against considerable odds. Three assaults were repulsed at close quarters, and heavy loss was sustained by the attacking enemy. On the 12th Lieutenant-Colonel Murray's relieving force arrived and attacked from the south, taking full advantage of the surprise which it had been able to effect, and inflicting heavy damage on the enemy, of whom nine Europeans in one company alone were captured. The captures included one machine gun and much ammunition.

Abortive attacks were delivered by the enemy at Ssongea on the night of the 14th-15th and at Lupembe on the 17th.

These last rebuffs apparently caused the enemy to abandon any idea of further immediate offensive action, and for some little time the operations reverted to a minor degree of importance.

On the 16th November the leading regiment of the Mounted Brigade reached Iringa.

By the 19th all information pointed to the withdrawal of the whole of the enemy forces eastwards to take up a chain of positions covering Mahenge and extending from Kidatu by Lofia, Mfua, Lukegeta, Makua's Mfirika to north-east of Ssongea.

The presence of an enemy force about Madibira had been for some time persistently reported, and it was known that early in the operations, which resulted in the eastward movement of General Wahle's force, a detachment had either become separated from the main Tabora force or from some cause or other had been delayed.

The retirement of the enemy and the arrival of fresh units of the Second Division at Iringa having made the position secure, the occasion seemed suitable for an attempt to round up the enemy detachment which was assumed to be following the Tabora force. A big gun was reported to be with the detachment.

General Northey accordingly arranged to send a force under Lieutenant-Colonel Murray by motors to attack the enemy detachment from the south, while General van Deventer was instructed to co-operate from Iringa.

On the 21st it was definitely ascertained that the enemy detachment had occupied Itembule mission (N. W. of Ubena) on the previous day and was moving to the east.

At noon on the following day the enemy was still at Itembule, half Lieutenant-Colonel Murray's column being near Emmaberg and the remainder at Ubena.

On the 22nd the second-half of the South African Infantry Battalion which had been sent to General Northey arrived at Wiedhafen.

At noon on the 24th the enemy at Itembule had been surrounded by Murray, and on the 26th, after resistance, the entire force was captured by him. The enemy force was commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Huebener and consisted of 7 officers, 47 other Europeans and 249 askaris, and one howitzer and three machine guns were also taken. This highly creditable enterprise was carried out with trifling casualties to our forces engaged.

The losses incurred by the enemy in the operations round Iringa and Lupembe in dead which we had buried and prisoners we had taken, amounted to 125 Europeans and 619 askaris.

On the 25th November I left Morogoro to visit the western front, and investigated the country to the Ruaha River and beyond, and on the 29th I instructed General van Deventer to retake Muhanga, which the enemy had occupied, and from there to move a strong force to Ifakara and further east to Luwegu, while General Northey was to deal with the enemy at Mfirika and Ssonga by moving to the Ruhudje River and Mponda, respectively.

As a preliminary feature of my general plan I intended the enemy to be driven over the Ruhudje and Ulanga rivers.

It was plain that the feeding of any considerable force south of the Ruaha River during the wet season was a problem of almost insurmountable difficulty, as it was apparently impossible to avoid vast inundated swampy areas of which the passage appeared impossible. I therefore determined to drive the enemy over the two rivers named above, and by creating a dump of supplies south of the Ruaha, to collect sufficient food to sustain a force which could watch the enemy until the rainy season was over and our advance became once more practicable.

I had investigated the possibility of feeding more troops by way of Lake Nyasa, but was compelled to abandon the idea.

On the 1st December I went to Dar-es-Salam chiefly to make arrangements for the institution of a river transport service in connection with my coming operations on the Rufiji, and returned to Morogoro on the 5th. While at Dar-es-Salam I took the opportunity of visiting the force at Mssanga.

On the 4th General Northey moved his headquarters from Neu Langenburg to Ubena.

About this time constant patrol skirmishes took place between the enemy about Lukegeta and Mfirika and General van Deventer's troops and those of General Northey, respectively.

Continuous heavy rain in the west produced conditions under which every movement became a matter of extraordinary difficulty, and the supply situation was at times seriously insecure; and on the 19th December General van Deventer, whose headquarters were now at Iringa, reported that he had been unable to build up the reserve of supplies which we had hoped we should have been able to collect at Iringa, and that he could not feed his whole division during the forward move which was then imminent. He further advised moving a considerable portion of his command back to the railway, and that a reduced force of three infantry battalions and a squadron of mounted troops should be kept at Iringa for the advance. To this I agreed.

It is of interest, as indicating in some measure the difficulties which are attendant upon military movements on a large scale in tropical Africa, here to observe that of 1,000 mounted men who had marched from Morogoro early in November, rather more than 90 per cent. had lost their horses by death from disease by this date, viz., in six weeks.

The combined forward movements by Generals van Deventer and Northey, in conjunction with the movements of the general advance elsewhere, were arranged to begin on the 24th December.

Operations in the area between the Rufiji and Central Railway from Dar-es-Salam to Ruwu.

(8) Before describing the operations which took place on our resumption of the offensive on all fronts at the end of the year, it is necessary briefly to touch upon the events which occurred during November and December in the Mssanga-Kissangire area.

As already stated, an attempt by a small column on the 9th October to drive away an enemy force in occupation of Kissengire had failed.

This column, after its unsuccessful effort, retired to Maneromango and there entrenched.

The force was strengthened at first by the addition of some South African Infantry, and later by sending to it the 57th Rifles and a section of mountain artillery from the first division at Tulo. These last reinforcements joined the column on the 21st October at Mssanga which was occupied.

Information at this time clearly indicated that the enemy, no doubt misled by native information of the movements of different detachments, very largely overestimated our strength at Mssanga.

On the 3rd November the enemy held Mkamba and Kissengire, and was patrolling actively to the north in the direction of the Central Railway.

On the 5th November Lieutenant-Colonel Willans was advised of the enemy's exaggerated estimate of our strength, and ordered by actively patrolling and in any other way possible to encourage the impression. In point of fact, the opposing forces at this point were practically equal in respect of numbers.

On the 6th a detachment was sent to Kongo, about 16 miles west of Mssanga. The strength of this detachment was 300 rifles and two machine guns, while remaining at Mssanga were 450 rifles, two guns and four machine guns.

On the 18th Colonel N. H. M. Burne, D.S.O., took over command of the forces in this area from Lieutenant-Colonel Willans.

By the end of the month the enemy had occupied a third position at Kibesa, some 12 miles south of Mssanga, but though patrolling was active on both sides, and several attempts by the enemy to reach the Central Railway were frustrated little more had occurred.

In the early part of December the heavy rains, which had fallen elsewhere, were prevalent in this area also.

On the 12th the Inspector-General of Communications, under whose orders the Mssanga force was acting, was warned of the coming general advance and instructed to arrange the advance of the columns from Mssanga and Kongo, and to consider the preparation of a third small column to cooperate from the coast in the north Rufiji Delta.

On the 16th December considerable activity by the enemy before Mssanga was reported and all patrols were engaged on being sent out. The enemy advanced and drove in our picquet on the southern end of a ridge dominating the Mssanga camp and water and seized a considerable portion of the ridge. An engagement ensued, the enemy being reinforced, but on the morning of the 17th the attack had been repulsed, and he retired leaving some dead on the field.

Nothing else of importance occurred till the general advance, and the activities of our forces in this area were confined to watching the enemy closely with a view to obtaining early information of any retirement on his part.

The General Advance resumed.

(9) By the 22nd December the preparations for an advance on all fronts were complete.

The period of preparation had been one of constant activity and continuous strain. It is not possible here to attempt any description of the varied work of the different services and sections concerned. The records of the departments are available and furnish full information. I may, however, state that an intimate knowledge of all the circumstances of our position is absolutely essential to a correct and fair estimate of what was accomplished.

Operations in the West.

I shall deal first with the operations in the west under Generals van Deventer and Northey. In spite of heavy rains which had just fallen, both were ready to advance on the 24th December in a combined offensive to drive the enemy over the Ulanga and Rufiji rivers.

Colonel Byron from Ssongea had attacked and dispersed the enemy on the 20th at Njamebenjo, and captured some stock and arms and a considerable quantity of native foodstuffs.

On the 25th December the troops of the Second Division encountered the enemy strongly entrenched east of Lukegeta Nek, and, while the attack was in progress at that place, the Mounted Brigade was sent from Makungwas to cut off the retreat of the enemy to the south and a force under Colonel Taylor moved from Boma Likiniuda's to the east of Muhanga to get astride the road at Boma Dwangire and join hands with the Mounted Brigade. The detachment at Njukwas was at this time held up by the flooded condition of the Lukosse river and was building rafts by which to try to effect a crossing.

The country generally was reported as very mountainous and covered with dense bush.

At the same time General Northey reported that the investment of the enemy's position at Mfirika was proceeding satisfactorily.

On the 26th he reported his forces as closing in on all sides of Mfirika, and that a portion of Murray's column was astride the Mfirika-Mahenge road.

On the same day General van Deventer reported that the enemy was in position at Magoma (Lukegeta Nek) but had lost his advanced position, and that his own troops were in occupation of a ridge in front of the main position held by the force opposing him. Colonel Taylor, on the previous day, had arrived within a few miles of Muhanga and the Mounted Brigade was in the vicinity of Makungwas.

On the 27th General Northey reported that he had occupied Mfirika on the previous day, the enemy having evacuated his position during the night of the 24th-25th and retired along the Mahenge road, having left a rearguard in position six miles east of Mfirika.

The report from the Second Division on this date was to the effect that the enemy had strongly resisted our advance on the previous day, 26th, fighting having been continuous. During the night of the 26th-27th our troops were pushed up to within 300 yards of the enemy's main position, but dawn on the following day found the position empty, the enemy having slipped away through dense bush during the night. General van Deventer expressed the hope that his troops near Muhanga might prevent the escape of the enemy, who, he reported, had suffered heavy casualties.

On the 27th the enemy tried to break through near Muhanga, but was driven back by the Mounted Brigade and engaged between the Lukosse and Lungwe rivers and Taylor's column and the force at Magoma were pushed on to co-operate. The enemy again attempted to effect his retirement on the 28th, and was once more driven back, but eventually escaped through the dense bush and forest under cover of darkness and eluded pursuit.

The operations of Generals van Deventer and Northey at this time are interesting as showing the practical impossibility of cornering an enemy in country of a nature such as that in which these operations were conducted.

For the remainder of the period with which this despatch deals, the operations in the west, though they resulted in gradually pressing the enemy back, were not marked by any incident of special interest.

On the 1st January the Second Division drove back an enemy force which had advanced from Mageta Pesten and the Njukwas detachment occupied Kissada, while the situation before General Northey remained practically unchanged.

On the 2nd General van Deventer reported that torrential rains had stopped his movements and that he was confining himself to active patrol work.

On the 3rd General Northey reported that Murray's column had assaulted and captured the southern end of the enemy's position east of Mfirika, and on the following day the enemy force at Msalala (east of Mfirika) had retired and was being pursued.

On the 5th January General Northey reported that the enemy retiring eastward before him had taken up another position and that our attack upon this position was still in progress.

On the 6th Byron's column dispersed an enemy force at Gumbiro.

On the 9th General Northey's advanced troops were in touch with the enemy six miles east of Sylvester Falls, and on the next day the enemy were retiring partly eastwards towards Mahenge and partly to the south towards Ifinga. Our advanced troops were about Smani and ten miles east of Sylvester Falls.

On the 11th General Northey reported that Lieutenant-Colonel Hawthorn was still pressing the enemy eastwards, and that Lieutenant-Colonel Murray was leaving Mfrika for Ifinga.

Three days later (on the 14th) the enemy were forced back from Smani and north-east of Ssongea between Likuju and Mpondas, and a quantity of stores fell into our hands.

On the 16th Murray's column of General Northey's force secured the bridge over the Ruhudje at Malawis, six miles north-west of Ifinga.

During the next few days the enemy continued to withdraw, followed by our troops, and a gradual retirement by the enemy towards the east and the south was still in progress in this theatre when I left the country.

Rufiji operations.

(10) I now return to the main operations in the Rufiji area.

On the 22nd December I left Morogoro and proceeded to Duthumi, where advanced general headquarters were established on that date.

The distribution of our forces on this front was as follows:—

On the Mgeta front under my immediate command were:—General Sheppard's brigade (the 1st East African Brigade, hereafter referred to as the 1st Brigade), in occupation of our line as already described. The 2nd South African Infantry Brigade, under General Beves, was at the summit of Sheppard's pass, on the road between Ruwu and Tulo, and was under orders to reach Dakawa on the 25th. The Nigerian Brigade under Brigadier-General F. H. B. Cunliffe, C.B., C.M.G., of which the first units had reached Dar-es-Salam on the 9th December, was in process of concentration at Ruwu and was to assemble at Tulo for the initial phases of the coming operations.

The First Division (Hoskins') was still in its positions to the south of the Rufiji, about Kibata and in the Kilwa area, warned to be ready to advance. Headquarters of this division moved to Mitole on the 25th.

The columns at Mssanga and Kongo were in readiness to move forward on receiving my instructions to that effect, which were to be sent when my own operations had reached a stage where co-operation could be effected with the best result.

The opening movements in connection with the main advance on the Mgeta front under my own direction were timed to begin on the 26th December, but continuous heavy rain compelled me to postpone all movements until the 31st, when the weather improved. This delay, though forced upon me, was not without advantage, as it enabled the Nigerian Brigade, which was somewhat behindhand, to complete its equipment and come up.

Two main considerations governed my dispositions, viz., the seizure of a crossing over the Rufiji and the capture, if possible, of the enemy force immediately opposing me. To the former of these two objects I attached the highest importance, and the chief problem which confronted me was how to seize a crossing over the river without allowing the enemy to become aware of my intention, for I was particularly anxious that the enemy should not evade a heavy blow by an early retirement from my front. Once over the Rufiji my intention was to move south-east and effect a junction with Hoskins' division moving north-west from the Mathumbi mountains and by these combined movements to cut all connection between the two enemy forces on Rufiji and at Mahenge respectively, and either to envelop the enemy on the Rufiji or deal him a heavy blow as he escaped south.

To secure a crossing over the Rufiji I decided to detach a considerable force to make a wide detour and capture and maintain a bridgehead in the neighbourhood of Mkalinso, twenty miles south-west of Kibambawe, while with the remainder of my forces I attacked and held the enemy north of the Rufiji.

My arrangements to the above end were as follows:—

The march to Mkalinso was entrusted to Beves' Bridge, which was to reach Kirengwe, ten miles west of Kissaki, on the 31st December. From Kirengwe General Beves was ordered to send forward a picked body of scouts towards the Rufiji and, on the 1st January, to push forward his engineers and pioneers to Kwa, Hobola, accompanied by half a battalion. On the following day this advance party—the half battalion increased to one battalion—was to reach Kidete and to arrive in the neighbourhood of the junction of the Ruaha and Rufiji rivers on the 3rd January. The remainder of the Bridge was to follow one march in rear of its advanced troops. Before daybreak on the 4th January a crossing was to be effected in Berthon boats over the Rufiji below its junction with the Ruaha, and a bridgehead was to be prepared and held on the right bank while a light raft was being constructed.

With the object of keeping the enemy in his positions while this flank march was in process of execution, I decided to deliver a holding attack from our forward entrenched positions on the Duthumi front while two forces worked their way round the enemy's flank by the east and west.

The holding attack was to be set in motion at daybreak on the 1st January by the Nigerian Brigade under Brigadier-General Cunliffe, and to the Army Artillery under Brigadier-General Crowe was allotted the task of supporting this attack. Stress was laid on the fact that the enemy should not be turned out of his positions till instructions were received that the attack was to be pressed.

For the purpose of the local flank movement to the east a column was formed of the 2nd Kashmirs, detached from the 1st Brigade, and a battalion from the Nigerian Brigade, the force being placed under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel R. A. Lyall, of the 2nd Kashmirs. Colonel Lyall was instructed to reach Kiruru, twelve miles east of Duthumi, on the evening of the 31st December, and thence on the following day to move to south and occupy Ishimbe on the Kidorengwa to Beho-Beho road. On arrival at the road the force was to entrench and send forward patrols to establish contact with the 1st Brigade coming from the west. Colonel Lyall was told to do his best to prevent the retreat of the enemy. If the enemy was enclosed, Colonel Lyall's force was to be merged in the command of General Sheppard.

The movement round the enemy's western flank was necessarily more complicated, and its execution was allotted to the first Brigade under General Sheppard. It was of importance to prevent information of the departure of Beves' brigade from Kirengwe reaching the enemy, and a double company of the 130th Baluchis was detached on the afternoon of the 31st December to move to Wiransi, which was to be occupied or masked from the north on the following day. The rest of this battalion was to march well in rear of the enemy position at Dawaka to the Dakawa to Wiransi road and, leaving a post on that road, to move on the 1st January towards Kidegede-Kiderengwa. To this battalion was entrusted the responsibility of establishing contact with Colonel Lyall's force.

The movement of the first Brigade in connection with the general plan, was to begin at daybreak on the 1st January, and was to be directed to the envelopment of the enemy position at Dakawa and a continuous advance eastwards.

On the 1st January the operations on the Mgeta front began, the preliminary movements on the day before having been carried out without any hitch.

At about 10 a.m. General Sheppard reported the 130th Baluchis under Lieutenant-Colonel Dyke, who were astride the Wiransi road north of Wiransi and south of the German Porter Camp, were being attacked by three companies, and he was pushing on towards the scene of the action. A demonstration on the Duthumi front was ordered to prevent any detachment by the enemy from that quarter. Two hours later General Sheppard reported the Dakawa position clear of the enemy, and that he had joined hands with Lieutenant-Colonel Dyke. The 130th Baluchis, after a long and fatiguing march the previous afternoon and night, had come on to the road behind the enemy, who, while retreating south on this road before Sheppard's advance, unexpectedly found the road occupied. The enemy then delivered four determined charges against the Baluchis, and, after severe fighting in which the bayonet was several times used at close quarters, retired to the east of the Wiransi road. The casualties on both sides were comparatively heavy, and the action, though short in duration, was of a severe character. Sheppard arrived on the scene after this action was over.

In the meantime General Cunliffe had been engaged on the Duthumi front, but, owing to the nature of his task, had not pressed an advance.

At 2-30 p.m., Lieutenant-Colonel Lyall reported that he was near the Kiderengwa to Beho-Beho road, half a mile to the north of Tshimbe, and an hour later was engaged with the enemy, from whom a 4·1 howitzer had been captured and who apparently had not observed his approach, but, on realising that the road of their retreat was blocked, at once turned back from before the Nigerian Brigade to endeavour to regain their line of retirement. Between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening the enemy delivered a heavy attack on the Nigerian battalion of Lyall's column, the attack dying down at 7 o'clock. It seemed clear that the enemy north of Lyall would make a determined effort to get past him to the south during the night, and orders were issued to Lyall to keep a sharp look out for any movement on the part of the enemy, in order that the First Brigade might be directed to move to the best advantage.

At 11 A.M. the double company of the 130th Baluchis had occupied Wiransi, taking some prisoners and stores there.

Beves' Brigade reached Kwa Hobola in the evening and the First Brigade pushed on in the night to Wiransi. Lyall's force remained in possession at Tshimbe.

The night of the 1st-2nd passed without incident.

In the course of the morning of the 2nd it became clear that the whole enemy force on the Mgeta front had retired to the south of our forces.

Upon this information I ordered the Nigerian Brigade to push down the Duthumi to Kiderengwa road and establish touch with Lyall, which was done during the day, Kiderengwa being occupied by the Brigade at 11 A.M. After its troops had established touch with Lyall the Nigerian Brigade was withdrawn again to Duthumi.

The existence of an enemy position on the Tshogowali river near Beho-Beho had long been known, and it might be assumed that the retiring enemy force would concentrate there.

I decided once more to make an attempt to encircle the enemy, and with this object the First Brigade was moved from the Wiransi to Beho-Beho road westward between Fuga and the Tshogowali river, with orders to reach a ridge south of the river early the following morning. The 130th Baluchis were sent direct towards Beho-Beho-Kwa Mahinda, Lyall's column being ordered to move to the same place at daybreak on the 3rd.

General Beves was warned of the enemy retirement, and that he had no time to lose if the Rufiji crossing was to be seized without opposition. He reported his arrival at 8-30 P.M., at Mhumbi, and that he would push on to and a half hours later and endeavour to effect a crossing early on the 3rd. His troops had been marching and road making for 14 hours, and had just completed a march of 20 miles. So far no sign of the enemy had been observed. They were still 10 miles from the Rufiji.

On the 3rd January, at 6-30 A.M., and therefore, a day ahead of their programme, the advance troops of Beves' Brigade, after a 30 miles' continuous march, crossed the Rufiji a few miles south of Mkalinso, and secured and entrenched a bridgehead. The march of the 2nd South African Infantry Brigade on this occasion was a noteworthy achievement, even in a campaign which affords repeated instances of splendid endurance by every unit of the forces under most trying and exhausting conditions.

The main object of my operations had thus been achieved in a shorter time than I had thought possible.

On the same day, the 3rd, the First Brigade was marching through most difficult country towards its objective south of the Tshogowali River.

At 4-35 Lyall's column just north of Beho-Beho encountered opposition, which increased until a sharp action developed, which terminated after dusk. Touch was established between this column and our force on the Wiransi road at Beho-Beho-Kwa Mahinda at 5 P.M.

General Sheppard was ordered to move on to the Beho-Beho to Kibambawe road south of the enemy early the next morning, and Lyall's column of the 130th Baluchis, the combined force now under Lieutenant-Colonel Dyke of the latter regiment, were instructed simultaneously to press an attack from the north. If the enemy again evaded our forces, he was to to followed rapidly to prevent him from concentrating against Beves' Brigade.

The last named detachment was held at Mkalinso, and spent the day in strengthening its position, crossing troops and stores, and patrolling well out from the right bank of the river.

The First Division was warned of the desirability of not committing too strong a force at Kibata and to the east of it. In the reports of this division the first indications of a withdrawal of the enemy westwards were to be observed.

On the 4th, at 10-30 A.M., the First Brigade arrived on the road, and had a sharp engagement with the enemy retiring from Beho-Beho, but, though severely handled, the enemy again slipped past. The brunt of this action was borne by the 25th Royal Fusiliers, and their casualties included Captain F. C. Selous, D.S.O., who fell at the head of his company.

The air reconnaissances this day showed that the repair of the Rufiji bridge at Kibambawe had been nearly completed by the enemy, who had for some days been working to make good the damage caused by flood. The bridge had been constantly bombed by the aeroplanes which did consistently excellent work throughout the operations.

The First Division reported further portions of the Kibata area clear of the enemy, and that reconnaissances were proceeding.

The situation north of the Rufiji and Utete was unchanged, except that some measure of success was achieved by an ambush laid by enemy patrols, as a result of which two officers and nine other ranks of the Arab Rifles were killed.

Early on this date a force from the Force Reserve surprised an enemy party at Mkalinso and accounted for three Europeans, twelve askaris, and a number of porters.

On the 5th January the First Brigade, which had been rejoined by the 130th Baluchis and 2nd Kashmirs, reached Kibambawe, and found the enemy had crossed the Rufiji during the night, and was holding the right bank. The whole roadway of the bridge had been removed.

General Sheppard was ordered to cross the Rufiji during the night of the 5th-6th.

From information which was obtained at Mkalinso, it appeared that the enemy force, which crossed the river at Kibambawe, had been ordered to retire east along the north bank, but had found it impossible to do so in consequence of the hurried nature of its retreat, and the danger of being cut off by our advance.

By the morning of the 6th January one double company and two machine guns had crossed the Rufiji at Kibambawe, and lay throughout the day concealed in the reeds on the river bank, the enemy having failed to detect the crossing.

I proceeded on this date to Kibambawe, and reconnoitred the position from the left bank, which commands the right bank at this place, and ordered the crossing of troops to be continued during the following night, and that reconnaissances should be pushed out early on the 7th, provided an adequate number of troops had been passed over the river.

On my way back to Duthumi I received information than an enemy force was two miles east of Mkalinso entrenched, having apparently arrived during the night of the 5th-6th. Upon this I ordered General Beves to take steps to deal with this force.

Reports of the weakening of the enemy strength in the Matumbi mountains opposite the First Division continued.

On the 7th the enemy offered stiff resistance to the 30th Punjabis of the First Brigade, who were on the right bank of the Rufiji opposite Kibambawe and the latter sustained severe casualties, but maintained their position. Owing to accurate enemy gun fire the idea of crossing more troops by daylight had to be abandoned.

General Beves reported that, after an engagement, the enemy force near Mkalinso had retired, and that a considerable strength of his brigade was occupying Mkalinso camp.

The troops of this brigade had by this time become very exhausted, and further advance from Mkalinso was accordingly suspended.

On the 8th January I proceeded to the Rufiji at General Beves' crossing and saw General Beves and investigated the situation. Before returning I instructed General Beves to withdraw his forces from Mkalinso and remain concentrated on the right bank of the river at his original place of crossing.

Orders were sent to the First Division, in view of the strong evidence that the enemy was moving to the west from Kibata, to send a battalion towards Mohoro, and to the west of it, to clear up the situation.

General Sheppard reported the situation unchanged at Kibambawe, beyond that he had crossed more troops.

Though able to maintain his position, he was not in a position to undertake offensive action. He was instructed to hold his positions.

The Nigerian Brigade left Duthumi en route for Beves' crossing on the Rufiji, it being intended that the offensive south of the Rufiji should be resumed when the fresh brigade arrived at the river.

The enemy resistance in the Kibata area had much diminished, and the movement of part of the First Division north towards the Rufiji delta was beginning.

The enemy north of the Rufiji was found to have evacuated his position at Mkamba on the night of the 8th-9th, and was reported to be retiring towards Kssegesse, and our forces were moving in pursuit. On the 10th January Colonel Burne occupied Kibesa.

The enemy opposite the First Brigade at Kibambawe was less aggressive, but watching the river most carefully.

In the Kibata area troops of the First Division advanced both north and west to keep in touch with the retreating enemy, and occupied Mwengei and Ngarambi respectively.

The situation was now clearing up. The enemy detachments north of the Rufiji at Kissangire and Mkamba were falling back south, followed by our patrols, and several companies were stated already to have crossed the river about 15 miles west of Utete. Kissegesse was occupied on the 17th by Colonel Burne, who immediately marched on to Koge. The withdrawal of the enemy from the Kitschi and Matumbi mountains north of Kibata continued. Our troops reached Mohoro on the south Rufiji delta on 16th January and found a 4·1-inch naval gun abandoned by the enemy some distance south of it. While the situation north of the Rufiji and eastwards towards the delta was thus rapidly clearing up, it still remained uncertain whether the enemy would attempt to make a stand at Utete and elsewhere south of the Rufiji, and so afford us an opportunity to cut off his retreat, or whether he would move south without loss of time. This uncertainty still remained when I relinquished the command on the 20th January. The gap between the most westerly troops of the First Division at and north of Ngarambi and Beves' Brigade at Mkalinso was still too wide to prevent such a retreat to the south, and in order to close or contract it, General Cunliffe's Nigerian Brigade was ordered to move forward from Mkalinso to Luhembero on 17th January, at the same time that the forces of Sheppard and Beves were to clear the enemy from the south of the Rufiji at Kibambawe. These orders were successfully carried out, the south bank of the river, as well as Mkindu and Luhembero, being occupied on the 18th January, and thereafter Cunliffe's Brigade followed the retreating enemy towards the south-east. Such was the situation on the 20th January when I handed over the command to General Hoskins and sailed from Dar-es-Salam.

On concluding this, my final despatch, I desire again to record my deep obligation to my Staff, all Divisional Brigade, and Regimental Commanders and all heads of Services and Departments.

Especially do I wish finally to emphasise the fact that the success hitherto achieved in this most trying and exacting campaign is mainly due to the unremitting efforts and resolute endurance of all ranks throughout the whole force.

To the Navy my obligations for the success of the campaign are too numerous to be expressed.

I must also express my gratitude to the various Governments which have come so readily and effectively to our assistance throughout the period of my command.

The Government of India has kept up a flow of reinforcements and remount mules for mountain batteries, and has provided large quantities of tentage, clothing, and miscellaneous articles, besides the entire food supply for the Indian troops, and of flour and canteen stores for the British troops. The Indian ration has been of exceptionally good quality, particularly the "atta" and "ghi," regarding which the Indian soldier is most critical.

Besides these, we have received 96 box motor cars, with a liberal proportion of spare parts.

The Government of the Union of South Africa has maintained a steady flow of reinforcements, collected enormous numbers of coloured labourers and conductors for transport, remount and railway services, and provided 23,144 horses, 24,198 mules, and 7,546 donkeys for the Force, besides 565 touring and box motor cars, and 766 ox and mule wagons over and above those originally sent with the South African contingents.

In addition to the above, we have been kept supplied with fodder and many articles of food-stuffs, besides ordnance and engineer stores.

All demands have been completed with the utmost care and promptitude.

British East Africa and Uganda Governments.—Since the commencement of the campaign, these Governments have unreservedly placed their resources at the disposal of the Army, both in the matter of allowing a large proportion of the European civil officials to take up military service, and also by employing many of those who remained behind, on meeting our large demands for porters, local foodstuffs, &c.

The authorities of Zanzibar have raised and equipped two corps of porters, besides rendering many acts of assistance, such as placing the Government steamers at our disposal, establishing a convalescent home for officers and other charitable organisations.

Such aid as is possible and necessary will, without doubt, continue to be afforded to my successor in the command, and I trust that when, as I confidently hope will soon be the case, the campaign is brought to a successful issue, the various Governments will be approached and asked to indicate the names of those individuals whose services, in connection with the East African Expeditionary Force, should be specially recognised."

My grateful acknowledgments are due to the several Red Cross Societies, British, South African and Indian, for the very generous way in which they have not only given large quantities of comforts for the troops but have also provided motor ambulance cars, motor launches, &c.

I also wish to thank the South African Gifts Committees, representing a vast number of individual donors, for their large contributions of gifts, and my only regret is that the exigencies of the campaign prevented the majority of them being issued till the troops were on the eve of departure from East Africa.

His Highness the Maharaja Scindia of Gwalior came forward in a most patriotic manner at the commencement of the campaign, and equipped, with a complete medical staff and every comfort, a convalescent home of fifty beds for Indian officers and men, which has been constantly in use and of the greatest benefit. "Scott Sanatorium" was also taken over by him for the use of convalescent British officers, and has proved of great value.

Major McMillan very generously provided two convalescent homes entirely at his own expense, which were splendidly staffed and equipped and were of the utmost benefit to the troops.

Several other ladies and gentlemen most kindly placed their houses at our disposal as convalescent homes, and the constant use made of them testifies to the manner in which they were appreciated.

The East African Field Force Fund and the Women's War Work League have rendered most active and loyal assistance since the commencement of the campaign, and the troops owe these bodies a deep debt of gratitude.

I am particularly indebted to the representatives of the Young Men's Christian Association in India and South Africa, who have not only been untiring in their efforts for the welfare of the troops, but have also worked the field force canteens which have proved of so much value to them.

The Garrison Institute has also done excellent work.

I have already brought to notice the names of all those under my command whose services I wish specially to commend to your favourable notice.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

J. C. SMUTS,

Commanding East African Expeditionary Force.

(STARRED QUESTIONS.)

By the Hon'ble RAI DEBENDER CHUNDER GHOSE BAHADUR :—

Tenure of office of the District Magistrates of the 24-Parganas

* 1. What has been the average tenure of office of the various District Magistrates of the 24-Parganas for the period between 1890 and 1915?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" About eleven months."

By the Hon'ble RAI DEBENDER CHUNDER GHOSE BAHADUR :—

District Magistrates of the 24-Parganas from 1916 to June, 1917.

* 2. (a) Will the Government be pleased to give the names of the successive District Magistrates of the 24-Parganas from the beginning of the year 1916 to the month of June, 1917, giving the respective dates of joining and leaving?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state the reasons for the frequent changes in the post of the executive head of the district of the 24-Parganas within the last 18 months?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" (a) A statement is placed on the table.

(b) On Mr. Swan's transfer to the Board of Revenue at the beginning of January, 1916, Mr. Dawson was appointed to hold charge of the district temporarily pending the return from leave of Mr. Goode, who was appointed substantively to the post with the intention that he should hold it for a considerable period. In October, however, it was necessary to grant leave on medical certificate to Mr. Payne, Chairman of the Calcutta Corporation, and Mr. Goode, on account of his previous experience of Corporation work, was selected as the most suitable officer for that appointment. It was at the same time necessary to find employment for Mr. Lang, who had been temporarily displaced from his officiating post as Commissioner of the Presidency Division, and his appointment to the 24-Parganas avoided further changes which would have been necessary if he had been transferred to another Commissionership for a few months. It was, however, arranged that Mr. Milne on return from leave in November should be appointed Additional Magistrate of the 24-Parganas, and should succeed Mr. Lang as District Magistrate on the latter's return to the Presidency Commissionership at the end of January. It was hoped that Mr. Milne would hold the post for some years, but owing to a serious breakdown in health he had to take long leave on medical certificate at the end of March. The present District Magistrate was then appointed. Mr. Henderson, the Additional Magistrate, held charge of the district on two occasions for short intervals between these changes.

The changes in the post during the last 18 months have been regrettably and abnormally frequent, but they were in two instances due to unforeseen illness. Every endeavour will be made to avoid further changes for some time to come."

Statement referred to by the Hon'ble MR. KERR in his answer to Question No. 2 (starred) asked by the Hon'ble RAI DEBENDER CHUNDER GHOSE BAHADUR at the Council Meeting of the 3rd July, 1917.

Mr. J. A. L. Swan from 1st January, 1916, to 2nd January, 1916.
Mr. V. Dawson from 3rd January, 1916, to 26th March, 1916.
Mr. S. W. Goode from 27th March, 1916, to 30th October, 1916.
Mr. A. G. R. Henderson from 31st October, 1916, to 6th November, 1916.
Mr. J. Lang from 7th November, 1916, to 28th January, 1917.
Mr. W. S. Milne from 29th January, 1917, to 30th March, 1917.
Mr. A. G. R. Henderson from 31st March, 1917, to 22nd April, 1917.
Mr. W. D. R. Prentice from 23rd April, 1917, to date.

By the Hon'ble RAI DEBENDER CHUNDER GHOSE BAHADUR :—

Members of the Indian Civil Service on leave on military duty.

* 3. What is the mean number of cases of absence on leave on military duty of members of the Indian Civil Service in the Presidency of Bengal for the period between January, 1916, and May, 1917?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

"On the 1st January, 1916, seven members of the Indian Civil Service on the Bengal cadre were absent on military duty. During 1916, nineteen more officers were permitted to join the Indian Army Reserve of Officers. All these 26 officers are still on military duty."

By the Hon'ble RAI DEBENDER CHUNDER GHOSE BAHADUR :—

Appointment of Additional Magistrates for the judicial disposal of criminal cases.

* 4. (a) Will the Government be pleased to state how far the system of appointing an Additional Magistrate in certain districts for the judicial disposal of criminal business has resulted in the separation of judicial from executive functions in those districts?

(b) Is it the intention of Government to appoint Additional District Magistrates in those districts in which they are not at present to be found?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

"(a) The primary object of the employment of Additional District Magistrates in this Presidency is to afford relief to the District Officer in unwieldy district charges. The Additional District Magistrate supervises the mechanical working of the criminal courts at headquarters, and ordinarily disposes of the greater part of the original and appellate criminal work which would be done by the District Magistrate if there were no Additional District Magistrate. To this extent the District Magistrate is relieved of a portion of his duties in connection with magisterial work, but he still retains his legal powers and responsibilities as District Magistrate. On the other hand, the Additional District Magistrate may discharge revenue and miscellaneous functions also.

(b) The appointment of Additional District Magistrates has been adopted as a temporary expedient pending the completion of arrangements for the partition of unwieldy district charges. The system has many drawbacks, and the Governor in Council has no present intention of extending it generally to all districts."

By the Hon'ble RAI DEBENDER CHUNDER GHOSE BAHADUR :—

Appointment of junior members of the Indian Civil Service to preside in Munsifs' Courts and as Subordinate Judges.

* 5. (a) Will the Government be pleased to give any information available regarding the working of the experiment of making junior members of the Indian Civil Service preside in Munsifs' Courts?

(b) Has any junior member of the Indian Civil Service, who has worked as a Munsif in recent years, been made a Subordinate Judge?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

"(a) & (b) A scheme was introduced in 1915, under which junior members of the Indian Civil Service, who are likely to be allotted to the Judicial Branch of the Service, are employed on civil judicial work for about eighteen months in order to give them a practical knowledge of civil law and of civil court arrangements. Three officers have undergone the training so far. They have all during a portion of their training exercised the powers of a Subordinate Judge."

Questions and Answers.

By the Hon'ble RAI DEBENDER CHUNDER GHOSE BAHADUR :—

Alleged pollution of the waters of Tolly's Nala.

* 6. (a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the letter of Dr. Bentley, Sanitary Commissioner, Bengal, No. D. 163, dated the 18th May last, and addressed through the District Magistrate of the 24-Parganas to the Chairman of the Tollygunge Municipality, on the matter of the pollution of the waters of Tolly's Nala by the effluent discharges of the Tollygunge Government Distillery, and the Dalanda Telegraph Stores, and of a considerable number of rice-mills; and suggesting action by the Magistrate under section 268 of the Indian Penal Code for the abatement of the nuisance?

(b) Are the Government considering the desirability of—

(i) taking steps for the diversion of the flow of the liquid waste of the Distillery and the Telegraph Stores from their present outfall into the stream, as suggested by the Sanitary Department, and

(ii) directing the authority concerned to take such action as may be necessary under the criminal law for abatement of the nuisance alleged to be committed by the people of the rice-mills of the neighbourhood?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD :—

" (a) & (b) Government have obtained a copy of the letter in question. It has been ascertained that the Sanitary Commissioner will make definite recommendations for the consideration of the Tollygunge Municipality after personal inquiry."

By the Hon'ble RAI DEBENDER CHUNDER GHOSE BAHADUR :—

Improvement of Tolly's Nala

* 7. Referring to the answers of the Hon'ble Mr. Cowley in this Council on the 5th March last to the questions of the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, in the matter of the improvement of Tolly's Nala, will the Government be pleased to state whether they are now in a position to say whether the proposed remedial scheme of constructing a channel for the Hooghly tide to spill into the southern lake at Samukpota has been finally considered, and accepted as likely to be effectual?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. COWLEY :—

" Observations were duly taken in Tolly's Nala in March and April last. Although the results were inconclusive, it has been decided to re-excavate the Nala between Chetla and Garia in the coming cold weather. This will not only improve the nala, but will enable fresh observations to be taken under more favourable conditions. If these fresh observations prove, as is hoped, that the remedial measures already proposed are likely to be effectual, the project of building a sluice and a lock at Samukpota will be carried out with the least possible delay. Meanwhile estimates are under preparation for a sluice and a lock at Samukpota."

By the Hon'ble BABU BROJENDRA KISHOR, RAY CHAUDHURI :—

Poisoning and flaying alive of bovine cattle.

*8. (a) Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing, for the last five years, district by district,—

(i) the number of cattle-poisoning cases and instances in which bovine cattle have been flayed alive;

(ii) the number of prosecutions and convictions for these offences and the average punishment inflicted?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the punishments have caused any diminution in this class of crime?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" (a) A statement is placed on the table.

(b) No definite conclusions can be arrived at from the statistics."

Report of the Public Services Commission.

* 9. (a) Will the Government be pleased to state when action is likely to be taken upon the recommendations of the Public Services Commission?

(b) Before any action is taken, will the members of this Council, as well as the public, be given an opportunity for discussing them?

(c) If such an opportunity be given, what will be the procedure that will be adopted?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" The Hon'ble Member is referred to the statement made by Sir Reginald Craddock in the Imperial Legislative Council on the 7th March, 1917. The Government of India have intimated that they intend to form as expeditiously as possible provisional conclusions regarding the Commission's recommendations involving general principles and of general application, and to inform local Governments of these conclusions as a definite indication of the lines which the examination of the report should follow and the limits to which the discussions thereof should be confined. The Governor in Council has every intention of giving public opinion an opportunity of expressing itself on the Commission's report, but he has decided to defer a formal reference for this purpose until after he has received the communication promised by the Government of India. It is not possible at present to make a more detailed statement as to the procedure that will be adopted."

Light railway between Ishurdi and Godagari.

*10. (a) With reference to the reply given to my starred question about a light railway between Ishurdi and Godagari viâ Rampur Boalia, will the Government be pleased to state whether any order from the Railway Board has been received?

(b) If it has been decided that the proposed railway will not be taken up in the near future, are the Government prepared to accord permission to the construction by a private company of a tramway line between Godagari and Natore viâ Rampur Boalia?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. COWLEY :—

" (a) The decision of the Railway Board on the subject of railway communication in the Rajshahi district has not yet been communicated to this Government.

(b) Until the decision of the Railway Board has been received, the Government of Bengal are not in a position to consider whether they will approve of the construction of a light line under the Tramways Act, between Godagari and Natore viâ Rampur Boalia."

Improvement of the pay of secondary and primary school teachers.

*11. (a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether any definite scheme has been prepared for the improvement of the pay of secondary and primary school teachers by means of the recurring grant of nine lakhs received from the Government of India?

(b) Are the Government considering the desirability of giving to the members of the Council and the public an opportunity for discussing the scheme?

(c) Are the Government aware that in the existing Subordinate Educational Service, the Lecturers and Demonstrators, who are generally of superior qualifications, are classified with the teachers of the secondary schools?

Questions and Answers.

(d) Has the point been considered that the proposed scheme for the improvement of the secondary and primary teachers may lead to the supersession of the Lecturers and Demonstrators by secondary school teachers?

(e) Will the Government be pleased to state what steps they have taken or are taking to prevent such supersession from taking place?

(f) Is it a fact that a scheme for the improvement of the entire Subordinate Educational Service has long ago been sanctioned by the Secretary of State, with scales of salaries ranging from Rs. 40 to Rs. 400 a month?

(g) If so, will the Government be pleased to state when this scheme is likely to be given effect to?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. HORNELL:—

(a) Proposals for the utilization of part of the nine lakhs grant for the improvement of the pay of secondary and primary teachers have been submitted to the Government of India, whose approval is necessary to the expenditure of the grant on different objects.

(b) No.

(c) Yes.

(d) The effect which the scheme will have on the position and prospects of Lecturers and Demonstrators has not been overlooked.

(e) The scheme is still under consideration.

(f) No.

(g) The question does not arise."

Enhancement of fares over the Sara-Serajganj section of the Eastern Bengal Railway.

* 12. (a) Will the Government be pleased to state why the railway fares for inter and 3rd classes over the Sara-Serajganj section have been enhanced from the 1st of June, 1917, by 2 pies and 1½ pies, respectively, per mile, whereas the fares for the corresponding classes over the remaining sections of the Eastern Bengal Railway have been enhanced by half a pie a mile only?

(b) Will the Government be further pleased to state why the fares for the 1st and 2nd classes over the Sara-Serajganj section have alone been enhanced and why the corresponding classes over other sections of the Eastern Bengal Railway have been differently treated?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. COWLEY:—

" (a) & (b) In view of the high capital cost of the Sara-Serajganj Railway (which is worked by the Eastern Bengal Railway) and of the comparatively low amount at present earned, as a temporary measure, with effect from June 1st, 1917, the passenger fares for all classes have been raised to the enhanced maxima approved by the Railway Board on 5th April, 1917, for railways in India. The same rates of passenger fares are charged on the Cooch Behar State Railway and on the Jainti Branch British Section and higher fares are charged on the Rajabhatkawa Dalsingpara Branch."

Promotions in the Subordinate Educational Service

* 13. (a) Are the Government aware that in the recent circular issued by the Director of Public Instruction it is stated that senior English teachers of Reformed Madrassas will rise to class III of the Subordinate Educational Service, whereas those of ordinary high schools will rise only to class V?

(b) Are the Government considering the desirability of modifying the said circular, so as to remove this distinction and make promotions uniform for all assistant masters?

Questions and Answers.

(c) Are the Government aware of the opinion that has been expressed that the restriction recently imposed on the prospects of the assistant masters in general is likely to involve great hardship on the B.A. and M.A. assistant masters in the service?

(d) Are the Government considering the desirability of modifying the principle in favour of these officers and of declaring them as eligible for promotion as assistant masters up to class III of the Subordinate Educational Service?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. HORNELL:—

" (a) and (b) The Hon'ble Member appears to have misunderstood the meaning of the circular. It makes no distinction between the assistant masters of Reformed Madrassas and the assistant masters of ordinary high schools, but provides that the senior English teacher of a Reformed Madrassa can rise to class III of the Subordinate Educational Service in the same way as the assistant head master of an ordinary high school, to whom he corresponds.

(c) No. It is laid down that exceptions may be made to the rules regarding promotion, and it is also provided that officers holding lower posts can be appointed to higher posts and thus become eligible for promotion to higher classes. Deserving assistant masters are therefore not debarred from obtaining promotion to classes higher than class V of the Subordinate Educational Service.

(d) No. The Hon'ble Member is referred to the answer to (c)."

Progress of education in the Jalpaiguri district.

*14. (a) Are the Government aware of the opinion that has been expressed that the progress of education is being impeded in the Jalpaiguri district by the paucity of secondary schools in that district and by the absence of a suitable boarding house for Hindus attached to the High English School in the town of Jalpaiguri for the accommodation of students coming from the interior of the district?

(b) Are the Government considering the desirability of instituting an inquiry into the matter with a view to removing the alleged grievance?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. HORNELL:—

" (a) and (b) The answers are in the negative."

By the Hon'ble BABU KISHORI MOHAN CHAUDHURI:—

Appointment of Sanitary Inspectors.

* 15. (a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the draft rules notified in the Calcutta Gazette of the 19th April, 1916, regulating the appointments of Sanitary Inspectors, have been finally adopted?

(b) If not, when are they likely to be adopted and given effect to?

(c) Will the Government be further pleased to state how the proposed rules are likely to affect the status and prospects of the Inspectors already appointed under the rules notified in the Calcutta Gazette of October 1913?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD:—

" (a) The answer is in the negative.

(b) and (c) Fresh proposals regarding the duties and qualifications of Sanitary Inspectors have been submitted to Government and have been referred to the District Boards for their opinion. Pending the orders of Government on these proposals, it is not intended to adopt the rules in question. Should they eventually be accepted, their effect on the status and prospects of Sanitary Inspectors who have already been appointed will be considered.'

Extension of the operations of the Court of Wards Act for the protection of tenure-holders.

* 18. Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is in their contemplation to take up at an early date legislation with a view to the extension of the operations of the Court of Wards Act for the protection of tenure-holders, in the same manner as the Act now protects zamindars?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

"On the motion of Khan Bahadur Maulvi Musharraf Husain, a resolution was accepted at the meeting held on the 27th March, 1916, to the effect that official and non-official opinion should be obtained on the advisability of amending the Court of Wards Act, 1879, with a view to extending its provision to tenure-holders. Government accordingly consulted the Board of Revenue and through it the Divisional Commissioners, thirteen of the principal landlords and eight leading Associations. The general trend of the opinions received was against any change. In the circumstances Government have decided that no steps should for the present be taken towards legislation."

2. The approved lists for each year shall be issued in September of the preceding year.

3. No text-books except those entered in the list of authorized text-books shall be used in any public school.

4. The list of library and prize books is issued with the object of bringing to the notice of school authorities books which are considered suitable for inclusion in their libraries or for distribution as prizes. The list is mainly suggestive and should not be regarded as exhaustive. When visiting schools, inspecting officers should scrutinize purchase of library and prize books other than those included in the list, and mention the result of their scrutiny in their inspection reports, drawing attention to any which they consider open to objection.

6. The Director shall be assisted in the selection of text-books (for inclusion in lists A and B) by two text-book committees. The Director shall be ex-officio President, and the Principals of the training colleges shall be ex-officio Secretaries of these committees.

7. The members of the committees, whose duties will be those of advisers and critics, shall be appointed by the Director in consultation with the Principals of the training colleges and shall hold office for such periods as the Director shall determine.

8. Meetings of the committees shall be convened by their Secretaries under the orders of the Director to discuss matters of general importance.

9. Individual members, or groups of members, of the committees shall examine books dealing with a particular subject or set of subjects.

10. Books which are submitted for approval as text-books shall in the first instance be forwarded by authors and publishers to the Principals of the training colleges for preliminary examination. Books which are intended for use in the Presidency and Burdwan Divisions should be sent to the Principal, David Hare Training College, and those intended for use in schools in the Dacca, Chittagong and Rajshahi Divisions should be sent to the Principal, Dacca Training College.

Questions and Answers.

11. Books submitted for approval as text-books shall be forwarded with an application in the following form:—

(1) Name of book,

(5) Name of publishing firm.
(6) Name and place of Press where printed.
(7) Kind of type used.
(8) Price.
(9) Has the book ever been submitted previously for approval? If so, quote date of such submission.

Those which are not manifestly unsuitable shall be forwarded by the Principals of the training colleges to a member or members of the committees concerned for detailed examination and criticism. One copy shall be sent to each such member. The author or publisher shall be required to supply the required number of copies free of charge.

13. After examination of a book the members shall forward their reports to the Secretary. The Secretary will convene meetings of the committee two or three times a year for discussion of the reports and for the selection of a limited number of books which will be forwarded with the committee's recommendations for the consideration of the Director.

14. The members of a committee may forward suggestions regarding text-books to the Director through the Secretary.

"(a) One hundred copies of the Army Department's communiqué of the 27th March, 1917, in which the conditions of service in the Force were explained in detail, were forwarded to each District Officer and to the Commissioner of Police, for distribution to the public. Independently of any action by Government, publicity was, of course, given to the matter through the press and public discussion.

(b) Yes.

(c) Five hundred and eleven applications have been received. In 16 cases the applicants were rejected on medical and other grounds. Two hundred and ten applications have been forwarded to the military authorities. The remainder are under consideration. Decline in the number of licenses granted under the Indian Arms Act.

* 26. With reference to the statement laid on the table in answer to unstarred question IV of the 13th March last, will the Government be pleased to explain the reasons for the decline in the number of licenses granted under the Indian Arms Act in Form XVI in the undermentioned districts :—

(a) Hooghly,
(b) Bogra,
(c) 24-Parganas,
(d) Khulna,
(e) Murshidabad,
(f) Bankura,
(g) Midnapur, and
(h) Mymensingh.

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" The decrease took place mainly in 1913 and appears to have been due primarily to a series of orders which were issued about that time directing District Magistrates to scrutinize personally applications for renewals of licenses and requiring license-holders to produce their weapons for inspection at the time of renewal. In Bogra the decrease was due to the conversion of about 300 licenses in form XVI to licenses in form XVIII. In the 24-Parganas, the Commissioner considered the reduction in licenses effected in 1913 excessive, and more than 200 new licenses were granted in 1914. No detailed reasons for the fluctuations are given in the annual reports for the other districts mentioned in the question."

Questions and Answers.

(b) In answer to a question it was stated on the 13th December last that the schemes of storage reservoirs and escape channels were still under the consideration of the Government. Will the Government be pleased to state whether any final decision has since been arrived at with respect to those schemes?

(c) Have the Government come to any final decision as to which scheme, out of the various schemes hitherto suggested by Government experts, should be tried and given effect to?

(d) Have the Government taken any active and actual steps for the prevention of the Gumti floods, since the adoption of the resolution of the 23rd January last?

(e) If not, will the Government be pleased to state what progress has since been made in this behalf?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. COWLEY:—

(b) & (c) Government are not in a position to consider schemes of storage reservoirs or escape channels until they know the views of His Highness the Raja of Hill Tippera regarding the possibility of constructing a storage reservoir in Hill Tippera. The reply of the Raja did not deal with this question.

Removal of the headquarters station of the district of Noakhali.

XI. (a) Is there any foundation for the rumour that it has been proposed temporarily to remove the headquarters station of the district of Noakhali to Feni?

(b) Are the Government aware that there is a strong public feeling in Noakhali that the proposal of temporary removal is still premature and that no step should be taken until a portion of the town be washed away?

(c) Are the Government aware that the vast majority of the Noakhali people are of opinion that if temporary removal is considered indispensably necessary, a site to the north of the Noakhali railway station may be selected where some temporary arrangement may be made for the safe custody of the Government records?

(d) Are the Government aware that the vast majority of the Noakhali people are of opinion that Feni is totally unsuitable for the headquarters station of the district and that, if a permanent transfer of the Sadar station be found to be unavoidable, a suitable site may be selected near about Bazra which, in their opinion, is most conveniently and centrally situated?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

"Government have no intention of removing the headquarters station of the Noakhali district unless the erosion of the Meghna should render this course necessary. If the erosion continues at its present rate, the civil station or portions of it will be in danger of diluviation about two years hence, and it is, therefore, necessary to consider the measures which will be required in that eventuality. Government have decided that any arrangements which may be made, should be temporary only in the first place, in view of the probability that the river will sooner or later recede. The question of the place to be selected as the temporary district headquarters in the event of its being necessary to evacuate Noakhali has not yet been decided. A large number of memorials pressing the claims of different places have been submitted and will receive full consideration before a final decision is come to."

Defence parties in Bengal.

XII. (a) Will the Government be pleased to state—

(i) the total number of defence parties formed up to date in Bengal, district by district;

(ii) the number of occasions on which they have offered resistance to armed dacoits;

(iii) the total number of members who have received injuries in offering such resistance; and

(iv) the number of members, if any, who met with death in offering such resistance?

(b) Have any members of any such parties been exempted from the operations of the Arms Act?

(c) If not, are the Government considering the desirability of exempting them from the same or of taking any other steps for encouraging and facilitating their work?

Questions and Answers.

(d) Who have organised these parties?

(e) Have the Government recognised the said parties in any shape or manner? If so, how?

(f) Have any members of any defence party been interned? If so, what is the number of such members?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" (q) (i) The formation of village defence committees was first sanctioned in March 1914 in the Burdwan district as an experimental measure, the object being to encourage the villagers to band themselves together in defence against the attacks of thieves and dacoits. It was subsequently extended to the districts of Hooghly, Bankura, Birbhum, Howrah, Midnapore, 24-Parganas, Nadia, Jessore, Khulna, Dacca, Bakarganj, Faridpur, Pabna, Rangpur and Malda. Government last year obtained reports as to the working of the system, and it was found that in many cases defence parties had been started on a large scale without due care in the selection of members and had done little or no effective work, but that in other areas where the local officers had been able to find suitable persons to carry it out, the parties had to some extent succeeded in preventing crime and in arresting criminals. Orders were accordingly issued in April last sanctioning an extension of the system in areas where conditions are favourable, the principle being to foster self-help wherever spontaneous inclination to self-help is apparent. It is too early as yet to judge of the effect of those orders, and it is not possible therefore to answer these questions in full or to give full information as to the existing position, but the following information extracted from the reports received last year shows how the movement then stood in the districts in which it had been introduced :—

Burdwan.—Sanads of appointment as members of defence parties were issued to 20,000 persons. In 12 cases members of the defence parties assisted in the detection of cognizable crime, and thieves were arrested in five cases.

Birbhum.—Sanads were issued to 15,361 persons, but only one case, in which a thief was caught, is reported.

Bankura.—Sanads were issued to 9,000 persons, but no effective work was done.

Hooghly.—Sanads were issued to 3,360 persons. In two cognizable cases the criminals were detected by defence parties.

Howrah.—No sanads were issued, but some defence parties were created informally in the Sadar sub division. It does not appear that they did any effective work.

Midnapore.—No sanads were issued. In two cases dacoits were captured by members of defence parties.

24-Parganas.—Sanads were issued to 360 persons, and 59 parties were formed, of which 17 are now defunct. Useful work was done by some of the parties who arrested thieves or dacoits in eight cases and gave the police assistance in the detection of five others.

Nadia.—Sanads were issued to 164 persons, but the parties did no effective work.

Jessore.—Sanads were issued to 264 persons. One party caught a burglar red-handed and gave valuable assistance in a murder case.

Questions and Answers.

Khulna.—Seven parties were formed, but six did little work. The seventh party was reported to be active in patrolling and to have been successful in checking thefts and burglaries.

Dacca.—About 1,000 sanads were issued, but no effective work was done.

Faridpur.—More than 100 sanads were issued. It is reported that some useful work was done for a time in controlling the patrol work of the chaukidars, but that the energy of the members of the parties soon abated.

Bakarganj.—Six parties were formed. Some of these did useful patrol work and succeeded in catching thieves in several cases.

Pabna.—Sanads were issued to 18,208 persons in 2,677 villages, but it is reported that the parties were inactive and rendered no material help in checking crime.

Rangpur.—Defence parties were formed in 43 villages, but the introduction of the scheme had to be suspended owing to rumours that the members would be sent to the war. No useful work had been done.

Malda.—Similar rumours hampered the formation of defence parties in Malda and they were introduced in nine villages only. It is reported that they did no effective work.

(ii) No case has been reported in which members of defence parties have offered resistance to armed dacoits, but as shown above, they have in several cases caught thieves and dacoits red-handed.

(iii) & (iv) No case has been reported in which a member of a defence party received serious injury or was killed in resisting thieves or dacoits.

(b) and (c) No members of defence parties were exempted from the operation of the Arms Act, nor is such a course contemplated. The grant of licenses in suitable cases should be sufficient.

(d) The parties were organised by District Magistrates and Superintendents of Police.

(e) Sanads in a prescribed form are now issued by the local officers to the members of the parties, and they are also eligible for, and in many cases have received, rewards for the capture of dacoits.

(f) So far as Government are aware, none of the persons whose movements have been restrained under the Defence of India Rules was a member of a village defence party."

(b) How much of the said money remains unexpended and how much of it has been refunded to the depositors?

(c) Is there any general practice of giving any intimation to the depositors of the amount that remains unexpended?

XIV. Will the Government be pleased to state what steps have been taken to popularise, among the cultivating classes, a knowledge of Dacca No. I paddy, referred to in a paper on the improvement of the rice crop at the Provincial Agricultural Conference in July, 1916, to induce them to extend the cultivation of this species of paddy? Dacca No. I paddy.

Questions and Answers.

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" A combined scheme for the demonstration and seed supply of Dacca No. I paddy is being given a trial in the Dacca and Mymensingh districts, the object being to supply each village concerned with an amount of seed the produce of which, if reserved for seed purposes, will suffice for the whole of the villiage area in the succeeding year. This year about 15,000 10-lb. sample bags of the seed of Dacca No. I variety of paddy have been distributed to growers through the agency of the panchayats throughout the two above-mentioned districts. Arrangements have been made to make the produce of this distribution available for seed for next year. If the produce is reserved for seed there will thus be sufficient seed for about 375,000 acres of this variety in the villages for next year's crop. Provision has been made for enough seed to affect in a similar manner about 1,200,000 acres in 1919 and to extend the operations to other districts to which the variety is known to be suited."

Burdwan Agricultural Farm.

XV. (a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to a statement made by Mr. Smith in the annual report of the Burdwan Agricultural Farm for the year ending June 1916, in referring to his experiments in small plots in Government farms, that "yields from small areas are misleading?"

(b) Have the Government any information as to the experience of other agricultural farms in regard to this matter?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" (a) The attention of Government has not been specially drawn to the statement in question, as the dangers of accepting the returns from small areas as representing the average outturn of a large field are well known. This does not mean, however, that for strictly comparative purposes small plots whose relative fertilities have been previously ascertained are not sometimes of very great use for special classes of work.

(b) The above principles are well known to all field experimenters."

Hygienic condition of schools and colleges.

XVI. (a) With reference to a statement made in the report of Public Instruction for 1915-16, will the Government be pleased to state what progress has been made in connection with the report of the Committee appointed to conduct an inquiry into the hygienic conditions of schools and colleges?

(b) Have the orders of the Government of India on the said matter been received?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to indicate briefly the recommendations made by the Committee and other authorities in this connection?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. HORNELL :—

(a) Government have approved certain recommendations of the Committee and have instructed the Director of Public Instruction to take action on those which do not involve additional expenditure. They regret that in view of the present financial conditions they are unable to give effect to other proposals of the Committee for which additional expenditure is required.

(b) Yes.

(c) A copy of the report of the Committee is placed on the table; another copy has been sent to the Hon'ble Member."

Improvement of waterways in the Dacca Division.

XVIII. With reference to the Government proposal mentioned by the Hon'ble Mr. Cowley in his reply in connection with my resolution of the 14th March, 1917, on the improvement of waterways in the Dacca Division, will the Government be pleased to indicate the main features of the scheme, showing particularly how far it affects the Dacca Division?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. COWLEY :—

"The scheme to which I alluded in my speech of 13th March, 1917, is the scheme for a 'Grand Trunk Canal' connecting Calcutta with the eastern districts of Bengal and the province of Assam. The scheme, when carried out, will benefit all the districts of the Dacca Division. It will shorten the steamer route to Calcutta by more than 100 miles and will diminish the dangers of the voyage."

Reopening of the survey classes in connection with the Dacca School of Engineering.

XIX. With reference to the proposal for the reopening of survey classes in connection with the Dacca School of Engineering, will the Government be pleased to state what progress has been made in the matter, indicating the exact form of these classes, their curriculum and other particulars referring to by the Hon'ble Mr. Lyon in a speech at the Dacca meeting of the Council on the 7th August, 1916?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. HORNELL :—

"Government have sanctioned the opening at the Dacca School of Engineering of a class for instruction in simple surveying on a vernacular basis. The entrance qualification is the Middle English or Middle Vernacular standard or the standard of the 4th class of a High English school. A curriculum has been prepared for a course extending over a year, and an Amin's certificate will be granted by a Survey Examination Board. On the completion of the course a student will be eligible for admission to the second year class of the Government Survey School at Mainamati, provided he passes a test in English. It is hoped that arrangements will be completed in time to permit of the class being opened in November."

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

"(a) The following list shows the names of the criminal tribes who reside in Bengal or who from time to time visit Bengal for the purpose of committing crime. In many cases only a portion of the tribes are criminals, and it is not possible to state their numerical strength in Bengal :—

(1) Bediyas,
(2) Bhumij,

(30) Minkas,

(32) Muzaffarpur Samars,
(33) Sanauriyas,

and several other mixed gangs composed of different castes.

The Criminal Tribes Act, 1911, has been applied in the case of the following tribes :—

	Tribes declared under section 3 of the Act.	Number of persons registered as members of the criminal tribe under sections 4—8 of the Act
1.	Bediyas	69
2.	Three gangs of Bhumij	84
3.	Dhekarus	48

8.	Bhurs	238
9.	Maghaya Doms	181
10.	Karwal Nuts	862
11.	Gondas	38

The provisions of the Act have also been extended to 29 mixed gangs, composed of different castes and comprising 1,244 members.

The effect of this action is to place the members of the tribes under certain restrictions as to their movements as specified in the Act and in the rules framed thereunder.

(b) Operations for the reclamation and improvement of the members of criminal tribes have so far been undertaken only in the case of the Karwal Nuts. A settlement was established in 1915 at Saidpur under the management of the Salvation Army. The Nuts are taught weaving, silk-reeling, gardening, agriculture and needle-work. There is a school attached to the settlement for the education of the children, and though escapes occur from time to time, there are indications of a tendency to settle down. Should the experiment prove a success, it will be extended to other criminal tribes."

Recruitment for the upper and lower grades of the Bengal Secretariat establishment

XXXI. (a) Will the Government be pleased to state the rules under which recruitment is made for the upper and lower grades of the Secretariat establishment?

(b) Have the rules been strictly followed since their promulgation in making appointments in both the grades? If not, what other principle has been adopted?

(c) How many appointments were made during the last five years in both grades in the several departments of the Civil and Public Works Secretariat, either in accordance with the rules or otherwise, and what were the qualifications and home districts of the recruits in each case?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD :—

"(a) Recruitment for the upper and lower grades of the Secretariat establishment is made under the rules published under Notification No. 4122 Mis., dated the 24th November, 1911. These rules have recently been amended by Notification No. 890 T.—Mis., dated the 5th June, 1917.

Questions and Answers.

(b) The rules have not been strictly followed. Candidates with the required qualifications have not been forthcoming for the Lower Division, and no examination was held during the years 1910—15. An examination was held in 1916 at which four candidates appeared but none of them passed successfully. Recruitment for the Upper Division was disorganised on the reconstitution of the province in 1912, followed by the creation of a fourth Secretaryship and the transfer of part of the work of the Board of Revenue to the Revenue and Financial Departments. The exigencies of the reorganised offices necessitated free recourse to the powers vested in the head of the office by rule 20 of selecting men of special ability and aptitude. The principle adopted has been to select the best candidates available, subject to retaining a certain proportion of the posts for Muhammadans.

(b) What provisions, if any, are there for interviews by lawyers and relatives of persons during their detention under Rule 12 A of the Defence of India Rules?

(c) Is there any provision in the said rules prohibiting such visits and interviews as are referred to in (a) and (b) above?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

"(a), (b) and (c) Applications by both relatives and lawyers to interview persons dealt with under the Defence of India Act are freely made and granted. There is no general prohibition of such interviews, but a prior application must be made and permission obtained."

By the Hon'ble BABU BHABENDRA CHANDRA RAY :—

XXXIII. (a) Is formal intimation given to the families of interned persons as to their place of internment or the change of their place of internment? Intimation to families of interned persons as to their place of internment.

(b) If so, how long after the order of internment or such change is such intimation given?

(c) If no intimation is given, are the Government considering the desirability of making arrangements for supplying such information as promptly as possible?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

"(a), (b) and (c) No such formal intimation is at present given or contemplated; interned persons have the opportunity of writing letters to their families, and many of their relatives obtain information direct by personal interviews with the Additional Secretary."

By the Hon'ble BABU BHABENDRA CHANDRA RAY :—

XXXIV. (a) Are the Government considering the desirability of reporting every case of illness among détenus to their relatives? Illness of détenus.

(b) Has there been any instance of death or mental derangement among these persons either during the period of detention under Rule 12 A, or while a subsequent order of internment was in force against them, or from the effects of any malady contracted during such periods?

(c) If so, will the Government be pleased to make a statement giving all the information at their disposal regarding each of any such cases?

(d) Is there any provision for the attendance of medical men upon interned persons?

(e) If so, at what intervals are they visited by medical men?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

"(a) As the détenus have the opportunity of informing their relatives regarding any illness, of which they take full advantage, Government have not considered the desirability indicated in the question.

(b) and (c) There has been no case of any person becoming insane during his compulsory domicile. There has recently been a case in which epileptic insanity was alleged, but after the détenu was brought to headquarters and kept under observation for some time, the Civil Surgeon held that the allegation was groundless.

Questions and Answers.

There has been one case of suicide; in that case the Superintendent of Police had visited the détenu only the previous day and found him well; his brother had also visited him on the same day.

There has been one case of death from fever.

(d) and (e) There is no regular medical inspection such as is suggested in the question; facilities for obtaining medical help are given when necessary."

Visits by relatives and lawyers to persons interned.

XXXV. (a) Are persons dealt with under the Defence of India Rules allowed to be visited by members of their family or lawyers before they are interrogated by the police?

(b) Are confessions of persons under detention recorded in the absence of any Magistrates?

(c) Are interned persons ever placed before Magistrates before or at the time they are required to make any statement?

(d) Are all statements or confessions made by such persons read over to them?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" (a) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the answer given to question No. XXXII.

(b) and (c) Several admissions regarding the revolutionary movement in Bengal have been made by persons participating in the same. Should the deponent, in any particular instance, wish to make his statement in the first instance to a Magistrate or to repeat it to a Magistrate, he is given an opportunity of doing so.

(d) Either they read the statements themselves or such statements are read over to them."

By the Hon'ble BABU BHABENDRA CHANDRA RAY :—

Statements of détenus.

XXXVI (a) Is any statement in writing made over to persons dealt with under the Defence of India Act stating the charges upon which they have been so dealt with?

(b) If so, in how many instances have such statements in writing been made over to such persons?

(c) If not, are the Government considering the desirability of making provision for such statements being made over to these persons?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" (a), (b) and (c) The early procedure followed was that described in answer to question No. 3 (a) of the Hon'ble Babu Ambica Charan Mazumdar on the 4th September, 1916. For some months past, however, the charges have been reduced to writing and written replies are taken. The person concerned is invited to sign the paper, to indicate that he has understood the charges. The original charges and the answers are forwarded, with the other papers of the case, to Government. Government see no reason to alter the present practice."

Questions and Answers.

By the Hon'ble BABU BHABENDRA CHANDRA RAY :—

XXXVII. (a) Are persons dealt with under the Defence of India Act induced, required or compelled to submit any written explanation in reference to any written or oral statement of the charges against them? Explanations by détenus.

(d) Are such détenus allowed to consult any lawyers before submitting their explanations? If so, how?

(e) In how many cases were such persons allowed to consult lawyers or relatives before being called upon to make any statement?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

"(a) and (b) No compulsion of any kind is used. Each person concerned is invited to submit a written explanation, either in substitution of, or in addition to, his oral explanation; but, in the majority of cases, advantage is not taken of that opportunity.

(c) These explanations are finally considered by the local Government.

(d) and (e) As stated in answer to question No. XXXII, there is no bar to détenus consulting lawyers or relatives in jail, but at the time when charges are put to them, they are invited to give their own answers."

(b) The answer is in the affirmative."

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" (a), (b), (c) and(d) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the answer to question No. VI (13), given in the Imperial Legislative Council by the Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock on the 21st March, 1916, in answer to the Hon'ble Mr. Bhupendra Nath Basu.

As regards the case of Nalini Kanta Ghosh, who absconded from internment and is still untraced, this has already been a subject of inquiry."

By the Hon'ble BABU BHABENDRA CHANDRA RAY :—

Visits to détenus by non-official visitors.

XL. Is there any arrangement for non-official visitors visiting persons dealt with under the Defence of India Act while under detention, as in the case of ordinary prisoners in jail?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" No special arrangements have been made."

By the Hon'ble BABU BHABENDRA CHANDRA RAY :—

Production of détenus before a Magistrate before being removed from Dullunda House.

XLI. (a) Is it a fact that some among the arrested persons are brought to Calcutta and kept in Dullunda House while under detention under Rule 12A of the Defence of India Rules?

(b) If so, are the Government considering the desirability of making provision for the production of such persons before some Magistrate at the time of their being taken out from Dullunda House before being sent elsewhere?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" (a) and (b) Some persons have been temporarily domiciled in Dullunda House, Calcutta, under the Defence of India Act, pending further investigation. The production of such persons before a Magistrate does not arise."

By the Hon'ble BABU BHABENDRA CHANDRA RAY :—

Education of détenus.

XLII. (a) In the case of boys who were actually at school or college before being dealt with under the Defence of India Act, what provision, if any, is made for their education while under detention?

(b) How many applications have up to date been made by détenus for permission to appear at University or other departmental examinations, and how many of them have been granted?

(c) What are the reasons for refusal in the other cases?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" (a) Any continuance of their studies during detention would be by way of private reading.

(b) and (c) In a few cases permission has been given to détenus to leave a domicile for the purpose of attending an examination, but it has been made perfectly clear to them and their relatives that permission to appear at the examination rests ultimately in the discretion of the Educational authorities. Where permission has been refused, it was for the general reason that in the circumstances of the individual case it did not seem suitable that the privilege should be allowed."

Questions and Answers.

By the Hon'ble BABU BHABENDRA CHANDRA RAY :—

XLIII. (a) Is it a fact that a Bengali lady has been dealt with under the Defence of India Act? Detention of a Bengali lady under the Defence of India Act.

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to make a full statement regarding the arrangement that has been made for her detention?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

"(a) and (b) The individual in question has been dealt with under the Ingress into India Ordinance. She was found to be assisting absconding Bengal revolutionaries. Every endeavour was made to place her in the hands of philanthropic bodies or with her relatives; but the latter were not prepared to take her in their charge and she refused to stay with any of the former. She has, accordingly at her own request, been interned in jail."

By the Hon'ble BABU BHABENDRA CHANDRA RAY :—

XLIV. (a) In the case of persons kept in solitary confinement in jails under Rule 12 A of the Defence of India Rules, are books and writing materials supplied to them as a rule? Supply of books and writing materials to détenus.

(b) If so, of what kind are they generally?

(c) Is it a fact that in some cases paper, pencil and ink are not allowed?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

"(a), (b) and (c) Persons who are detained up to the limit of one month under the Defence of India Act are allowed writing materials when they ask for them."

By the Hon'ble BABU BHABENDRA CHANDRA RAY :—

XLV. (a) What is up to date the number of persons arrested under the provisions of the Defence of India Act on suspicion and subsequently released, either— Prohibition of employment of persons released under the Defence of India Act

(i) as being altogether innocent; or
(ii) after a warning?

(b) Is it a fact that a circular has been issued recently prohibiting the employment of such persons as teachers or employees, or if they are students prohibiting them to resume or continue their studies in schools and colleges?

(c) If so, will the Government be pleased to lay a copy of the same on the table?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

(a) It is understood that the Hon'ble Member refers to releases by the police before any orders of domicile were passed, and not to release from domicile. Out of persons arrested under the provisions of the Defence of India Act, since May 1915, the number of those who have been subsequently released as innocent is 25. In 10 of these cases the arrests were due to mistaken identity owing to the similarity of names; of the remaining 15, 8 were given the benefit of the doubt and 7 held to be innocent. The number of those arrested and released after a warning was 4.

(b) and (c) It is not a fact that a circular has been issued recently prohibiting the employment of such persons or the continuance of their studies. In the case of those who have been released after warning, it has been laid down as a proper principle that, in the interests of the other boys and of school discipline the school or college authorities should consult the District Magistrate as to the readmission of such students."

RESOLUTIONS

(under the rules for the discussion of matters of general public interest).

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 3.

The following resolution stood in the name of the Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that Shorthand-writers be appointed, as early as practicable, in all Sessions Courts, to take down the charge as delivered by the Sessions Judge to the Jury.

He said :—

"My Lord, I pray that this resolution may be postponed till the opinion of the High Court is received by Your Excellency's Government."

The discussion of the resolution was then, by leave of the President, postponed to the next Calcutta Meeting of the Council.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 4.

The following resolution stood in the name of the Hon'ble BABU AMBIKA CHARAN MAZUMDAR :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that in completing the embankment on one side of the Beel route canal, in the district of Faridpur, for which a provision has been made in the Budget estimates for 1917-18, steps be taken to provide a sufficient number of sluices in the embankment, and that wooden bridges be constructed over every village khal falling in the line of this embankment.

The Hon'ble Member being absent, the resolution went by default.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 5.

The following resolution stood in the name of the Hon'ble MAULVI ABUL KASEM :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that public associations in the Presidency and non-official members of the Legislative Council, be invited to express their opinion on the Report of the Royal Commission on the Public Services in India.

He said :—

"My Lord, after the statement by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr in reply to the question put by the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri, I beg to withdraw this resolution.

The resolution was then by leave of the President withdrawn.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 6.

The Hon'ble MAULVI ABUL KASEM moved the following resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that work may be suspended in all public offices on Fridays for an hour between 12-30 P.M. and 2 P.M., to enable Muhammadan employés to attend and say their Juma prayers.

Resolutions.

Maulvi Abul Kasem ; Sir S. P. Sinha.

He said :—

"My Lord, the prayer contained in this resolution is a very simple one, and I do not think that many words are needed from me to commend it either to this Council or to your Excellency's Government. I am aware, my Lord, that there is a Government Circular which lays down that Muhammadan employés in public offices may absent themselves for an hour on Fridays for the purpose of attending their prayers, but there is a proviso in that Circular which practically nullifies its effect. The Muhammadan employé has to undertake to make up for the loss of time and work by working some extra hours on other days. This causes great hardship and inconvenience. The Muhammadan employé cannot go for his prayers without the permission of his office master and immediate superior, and does not venture to go if this permission is reluctantly given as he is afraid that by doing so he will incur the displeasure of his master and will be made to work extra hours at most inconvenient times. Consequently he is obliged to give up his prayers and this is certainly very hard. Besides the Muhammadan employés there are the Muhammadan public who have got business in courts and offices and have to attend to them during office hours ; this resolution is intended to remove the inconvenience of these Muhammadans. There will be no harm done in suspending business for an hour or so, because work is generally suspended for lunch. Why not fix that hour between 12-30 and 2 P.M. on Fridays. Muhammadan employés will then be able to attend their prayers, without the danger of offending office masters and the Muhammadan public, pleaders, mukhtears and others, will also be able to say their prayers without inconvenience or loss. The question is of very great importance to the Muhammadans with whom attendance at prayers is not only a pious act but its omission is a positive sin. I appeal, my Lord, that Muhammadan employés and those having business in public offices and Courts should not be placed in circumstances which would leave them between two alternatives of either suffering material loss or committing a sin. With these words, My Lord, I commend this resolution for the acceptance of this Council."

The HON'BLE SIR S. P. SINHA said :—

"My Lord, I regret that, on behalf of the Government, I am unable to accept this resolution. I think that Hon'ble Members will recognise that in the past Government have tried, at any rate, to afford every possible facility to Muhammadans for the performance of their religious duties. In 1912, on the representation of certain non-official Muhammadan gentlemen, a circular letter, which has been referred to by the Hon'ble Mover of the resolution, was issued by Government, and by it all officers were directed to give permission to such Muhammadan employés as asked for it to absent themselves from office for the purpose of saying their juma prayers on Fridays. No doubt, there is the proviso that has been referred to, namely, that permission has to be asked for, secondly that, if necessary, the official, who avails himself of that permission, may have to make good the time which he employs at prayers. At the time when this order was passed, the Muhammadan gentlemen who had asked for such an order expressed themselves as fully satisfied with the concession made. Since the Hon'ble Mover gave notice of this resolution I have caused inquiries to be made practically from all public officials—Commissioners of Divisions, District Judges, District Magistrates and so forth ; and from the answers received, it is quite clear to me, and I think my hon'ble friend must have been misinformed with regard to it, that the majority of Muhammadan officials have freely availed themselves of this order. There has been no expression of dissatisfaction or discontent with regard either to permission not being given or with regard to their being made to work during hours

Resolutions.

Maulvi Abul Kasem ; Mr. Rasul ; Mr. Irwin.

they ought not. Towards the end of the last year the Hon'ble Mover gave notice of a resolution by which he asked that, so far as courts were concerned, not only officers but all persons having business to do in the courts either as pleaders, mukhtears, witnesses of parties should have the same privilege. He asked that the courts should adjourn regularly on Fridays, between 12 and 2 P.M., for the purpose of enabling Muhammadans to attend to their juma prayers. The matter was under the exclusive jurisdiction of the High Court as concerning the practice and procedure of the courts, and accordingly it was referred to the High Court. In their answer to this Government, the High Court pointed out that there were already facilities provided for the purpose by two circular letters of 1899 and 1904, respectively, and they expressed the opinion decidedly that further concessions were unnecessary and would interfere with the despatch of judicial business. That reply was communicated to my hon'ble friend and upon that he withdrew the resolution, and I take it that when he did so he thought that it was not practicable to allow the further concession which he had asked for. The matter should have ended there, but my hon'ble friend has returned to the charge and this time with a proposal still wider, because he asks not only that there should be an adjournment of all judicial work but of all business in all public offices during a particular hour or hours on Fridays. Now, if the High Court are right, and I think they are, in saying that the concession is unnecessary and might seriously interfere with the despatch of business, I leave it to the Council to consider as to how much more it would lead to dislocation of business if any such rule was applied to all public offices. I believe all reasonable facilities exist under the rules for the purpose of enabling members of the Muhammadan public to perform their religious duties. Government are anxious that they should have these facilities, and if we were satisfied that these facilities were not enough, we would have been glad to accept the resolution of my hon'ble friend. However, as existing concessions are sufficient in themselves and further concessions in this respect would interfere seriously with the due despatch of business, I must invite the Council to reject this motion."

The Hon'ble MR. RASUL said :—

"My Lord, I have heard the Hon'ble Mover and also the Hon'ble Member in charge. No doubt, the Muhammadans will be satisfied with the reply that the Hon'ble Member has given so far as it goes. But, my Lord, there have been complaints from different parts of the Province and especially from the division which I have the honour to represent here. Many Muhammadans have complained that whenever they have asked for leave, leave has sometimes not been given and whenever it has been given, it has been given rather reluctantly. With regard to one part of his reply, that is to say, that there are facilities I submit that they are not sufficient. The Government should be prepared to consider the question later on. But I may suggest that if the Government are not prepared to give one hour as my hon'ble friend the mover has suggested in his resolution, even three quarters of an hour ought to be quite sufficient for the purpose, and I do not think that this will dislocate business in any way. I therefore pray that this resolution be accepted by Government with this amendment that instead of one hour it should be three quarters of an hour."

The Hon'ble MR. IRWIN said :—

"My Lord, in the interests of the tax-paying public and business community, I oppose this resolution.

On referring to the calendar I find there are at present no less than thirty-three Government holidays. I also find that there are forty-six working Fridays in the year, holidays falling on the other six.

Resolutions.

Mr. Irwan; Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq.

The Hon'ble Member, the mover of this resolution, proposes that work should be suspended in all Government offices for an hour on each Friday. Thus, no counting the time necessarily lost in preparing for cessation and again for resumption of work, forty-six hours or no less than practically seven working days will be lost each year which would have the effect of adding more than 20 per cent to the already long list of holidays. It practically therefore amounts to this, either Government offices are at present working seven days, during which time in future they will have to work or the establishment will have to be increased in proportion in order to make up for the time lost.

Moreover the effect, which a resolution of this sort will have on the labouring classes in mills, factories, in fact in every business of any description throughout India, must be considered. If Government initiate a change of this sort will it not be demanded all over the country and if not conceded cause very serious dislocation or unrest?

On these grounds therefore, my Lord, I strongly oppose this resolution."

The Hon'ble MAULVI A. K. FAZL-UL-HAQ said :—

"MY LORD, I beg to support this resolution, but in doing so I hope I shall not be misunderstood. I am afraid my hon'ble friend who moved this resolution has asked a good deal too much. Perhaps he had in his mind the well known proverb—'he who aimeth at the sky, shoots higher than the one who aimeth at the tree.' On the last occasion when a similar resolution was brought before this Council, the recommendation was as regards the closing of the business in mufassal courts. I do not know if it would be at all practicable or convenient for all offices to suspend their business, but this much I must say, that it is certainly necessary that some directions should be given by your Excellency's Government that the business in mufassal courts should be suspended for a sufficient time in order to allow Muhammadans to perform their jama prayers. I can well understand, and I think there is absolutely no doubt on this point, that Government is always anxious to render all possible assistance in order to enable Muhammadans, and for the matter of that followers of other religions, to attend to their religious duties as much as possible. I believe that the Circular that has already been referred to does to a certain extent enable Muhammadans to say their juma prayers whenever necessary. But I believe that a little misapprehension exists in the mind of the Hon'ble Member who has replied on behalf of Government as regards the efficacy, if I may say so, of that circular. It is true that there is this circular and a recommendation has gone out that facilities should be given to Muhammadans whenever they want to absent themselves for the purpose of saying their prayers. The High Court no doubt has laid it down that there should be an interruption of business, but the High Court has not indicated when that suspension of business ought to take place. It lies in the discretion of the Magistrates to suspend at 12 or at 3-30 or at any other time, for half an hour or so. But this suspension may be absolutely useless for the purpose of Muhammadans going to their prayers. I know of a certain case in which difficulties did arise, and in which the presiding officer actually refused to allow a Muhammadan gentleman to leave the court to say his prayers. I think the hon'ble mover mentioned the case when moving the resolution. In the district of Burdwan there was a case in which the accused happened to be a Muhammadan, the complainant was a Muhammadan, the witnesses were Muhammadans and, quite unusually, the mukhtear who was defending the accused happened to be a Muhammadan. He intimated to the court that it was time for juma prayer and wanted permission to go out; he also intimated that the next case was ready and that he had spoken to his Hindu friend who was quite willing to argue the case, so that in the meanwhile he might go out and say his prayer. But, strange enough, the presiding Magistrate refused permission, with the result that the Muhammadan mukhtear could not leave the court and had to forego saying his juma prayer. My hon'ble friend knows more about the facts of the case than I do. As a matter of fact, a complaint to this effect was sent to me by a certain gentleman from Burdwan. Whether this really happened or not is not the point, but it is a case which might happen. We all know that District Magistrates are a very considerate body of public servants : so far as they are concerned there can be no difficulty but there are other Magistrates who are always puffed up with a sense of their own dignity and who sometimes think that even the granting of a reasonable prayer is an insult to their dignity. There are Deputy Magistrates who think themselves to be pocket editions of the Governor of Bengal. It is with such Magistrates that difficulties do arise and when even reasonable prayers are made they are refused, and when such prayers are refused, Muhammadans are greatly inconvenienced. What is therefore necessary is this—that a circular should go out from your Excellency's Government stating that the period which the High Court has intimated should be the period of suspension of business should, on Fridays, be some time between 12 and 2 P.M. There should be no discretion left to the Magistrate, and if that is done, all causes for complaint will disappear. It may not be quite convenient for all offices to suspend their work but it is certainly convenient for mufassal courts to suspend business for a sufficient period in order to allow Muhammadans to say their prayers. All that is wanted is that a new circular should be issued fixing the time for the suspension of business on Fridays which the courts have to make under the High Court rules. If that is done, all causes of complaint will disappear. With these few words I beg to support the resolution."

Resolutions.

Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq; S. P. Sinha.

The Hon'ble SIR S. P. SINHA said :—

"My Lord, I do not think that I can add usefully to what I have already said.

"There is just one word I should like to say with reference to the incident to which my friend the Hon'ble Maulvi Faz-ul-Haq has referred with regard to Burdwan. I believe it formed the subject-matter of a question in Council and if I am not mistaken that question was put by the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem. It was found on inquiry—and the reply was accordingly given—that it happened in this way : there were two mukhtears—one Hindu and the other a Muhammadan. I believe the Hindu was conducting the case and the Magistrate said that it was not necessary to adjourn the case as the Hindu mukhtear might go on while the Muhammadan mukhtear went out to say his prayers. I believe that was the incident referred to and that the above was found on inquiry. I do not think that this is an instance of a very heinous offence committed by an official. But I quite agree with my hon'ble friend that if discretion is given to anybody, even with the best desire to exercise it properly, it will sometimes be abused. I quite agree that there is a possibility of that. Even if you lay down a rule, people who are determined to go wrong, will always do so. But there is always a possible remedy in all these cases. If there is a wrong, the matter has only to be brought to the attention of the superior officers and I cannot but believe that the grievance would be remedied at once.

"I should also like to point out to my hon'ble friend, Mr. Rasul, that I have got the replies from all the officers who have been consulted with regard to this matter and taking Tippera to be the district which my friend referred to as his own, this is what the District Officers say :—The District Magistrate points out that practically everyone of the officers employed in his office—out of 32 employés, 28 have always taken advantage of this concession. The District Judge says that the Muhammadan employés in the civil courts have always taken full advantage of the concession. So it does not appear from the reports that are in my hands that there is serious cause for complaint in the district of Tippera. Under these circumstances and also for the very weighty reasons to which one of the hon'ble members has referred, I am afraid, it will not be possible for us to accede to the request."

The Hon'ble MAULVI ABUL KASEM said :—

" My Lord, with reference to the statement made by the Hon'ble Member on behalf of the Government that an inquiry was held about the Burdwan incident, I beg to say this : True it is that the question was put and an answer was given in the Council to the effect that a Hindu mukhtear was appearing with a Muhammadan mukhtear. But this answer was supplied by the District Magistrate who in his turn got the answer from the Deputy Magistrate in question. And the answer was not correct. There was only one mukhtear in the case and he was a Muhammadan who was the aggrieved party. I wanted to refer to the matter again but so far as Burdwan is concerned we had got the concession and I did not think it necessary to pursue the matter further.

With reference to the statement made by the Hon'ble Mr. Irwin that the grant of this concession would tell very much on the tax-payers of Bengal as it would cause loss of work for an hour or so for 46 working Fridays, I would like to say that, if the interests of the poor tax-payers of Bengal are to be considered in this connection, then the 52 Sundays should be made working days and I may add that in a province where the Christian population is negligibly small there is no justification for observing Sundays as holidays.

The Hon'ble Member in charge has said that all officials will be glad to give permission to their Muhammadan employés to absent themselves for the purpose of saying their juma prayers. That is true so far as the higher officials are concerned. When I was speaking of office masters I was not referring to District Magistrates or District Judges, but I had in my mind the case of subordinate officials like sheristadars and Superintendents who have Muhammadan employés under their immediate control and to whom the presence of Muhammadans in the office is seldom welcome. If they have to give such permission to their Muhammadan employés they do it reluctantly and the Muhammadans are made to work extra hours during other working days and have to work in excess of the loss caused by their absence for juma prayers. I therefore think that it is necessary that a circular be issued which will remove these difficulties. Muhammadans are now given some facilities to enter public offices and the Muhammadan public are also now realizing their rights and privileges and it is time that in a province where the Muhammadan population preponderates they should be given every facility for attending to religious duties. I do not, however, press this resolution, but I hope and trust that Government will give it their full and careful consideration."

The resolution was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 7.

The following resolution stood in the name of the Hon'ble MAULVI ABUL KASEM :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that Government do take into consideration the amendment of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884 (Ben. Act III of 1884), and of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act, 1885 (Ben. Act III of 1885), with a view to increasing the proportion of elected members in Municipalities, District and Local Boards, respectively, and that such changes be made in the election rules as may be necessary to provide for an adequate and effective representation of Muhammadans on those bodies.

He said :—

"My Lord, I ask for permission to postpone moving this resolution to the next Calcutta Meeting of the Council."

The resolution was accordingly, by leave of the President, postponed.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 8.

The Hon'ble KUMAR SHIB SHEKHARESWAR RAY moved the following resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that the rules made under the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885 (VIII of 1885), relating to the realisation and transmission of landlord's fees, be so amended as to ensure that, in the case of joint landlords, the individual share of such fees amounting to annas four or more, shall be transmitted to them separately by money-order as in the case of a sole landlord.

He said :—

"My Lord, with reference to the realisation and transmission of landlord's fees the law provides that whenever a transfer of or succession to a permanent tenure takes place, a fee called the landlord's fee of 2 per cent. on the annual rent of the tenure together with the cost necessary for the transmission of the same to the landlord shall be realised from the tenant becoming entitled to the tenure and the Collector, with whom the fee is to be deposited, shall cause it to be transmitted to and the notice of the transfer to be served on the landlord, in a manner to be prescribed by the Government from time to time. This, in brief, is the law as it now stands after the amendments made in 1907 in the main Tenancy Act, 1885. Prior to these amendments of 1907, no transmission fee was realised nor was the Collector required to transmit the landlord's fee to him by money-order; instead this fee used to be paid out to him only on his application to the court. With regard to the landlord's fee itself, it was only in 1885 that a scale of this fee was fixed and a clearly defined principle was laid down regarding the transfer of permanent tenures and its subsequent recognition by the landlord. Act VIII of 1885, while protecting the transferee from the risks of non-recognition by the landlord, also provided for a definite income to the latter by introducing a system of landlord's fee. The Tenancy Acts of 1859 and 1869 did not contain any provision for this fee and this fact led to constant frictions between the tenants and the landlords who, according to the established usage and custom of the country, always insisted on realising some sort of fees before recognising the successions to and transfers of permanent tenures. The action of the Government in 1885, though it somewhat encroached upon the vested rights of the zamindars, yet both they and their tenants were undoubtedly grateful to the Government inasmuch as it removed certain grievances of the raiyats and also provided for some income to the zamindars which till then was looked upon as a kind of extortion practised by them. But the scale of this fee was so low that in many instances it was hardly worth the while of the zamindars to apply for its refund. They also hesitated to accept these payments fearing that this acceptance might be used as an evidence against them regarding the permanence, the amount or fixity of rent, the area, the transferability or any other incident of the transferred tenure about which there might be some doubts. The result was that a large portion of the fees deposited with the Collectors were not claimed at all. But the Government were not unmindful of the difficulties of the zamindars in this matter and we have further reason to be grateful to the Government for coming to our rescue in 1907. In the amended Act of 1907, in sections 18A and 18B, it is laid down that the acceptance of such fees will not be regarded as an admission regarding any incident of the transferred tenure and sections 12, 13 and 15 provide that in addition to the prescribed fees a transmission fee is to be realised from the interested party and the Collector is to remit the landlord's fee per money-order, to the landlord, in the prescribed manner. So far as the law itself is concerned its meaning is plain, it makes no distinction between a sole landlord and a group of joint-landlords and we have nothing to complain against it, but in the little phrase "prescribed manner" the Government have reserved a right to prescribe the forms of notice to be served on the landlords as also the rules which are to govern the service of the notices and the transmission of the landlord's fees. I am constrained to say that the forms of notice and the rules of procedure have been so prescribed that the joint-landlords have to undergo a lot of inconvenience and unnecessary expense in order to get back their dues from the Government. But the extreme care and sympathetic attitude which the Government have all along evinced towards the zamindars in this respect embolden me to bring forward this modest resolution before this Council; and I am quite hopeful that it will be accepted when the poor lot of the joint-landlords is brought to the notice of the Council. Those of my collegues here who are connected with zamindari management and those official members who have held charge of district administration are quite conversant with the difficulties of the joint-landlords. Under rule 27 of the Bengal Tenancy Act the fee due to a sole landlord is transmitted to him by money-order, but in the case of joint-landlords rule 28 purports to say that an application is to be made by them to the Collector for the payment of their dues and the form of notice to be served on them contains the following :—

'Take notice ..... that the landlord's fee will be held in deposit at the Collector's office till applied for by you and your co-sharers..... The amount stands to your credit and will be paid to you and your co-sharers..... on application or it will be sent by money-order to any person whom you and your co-sharer may jointly desire to be sent. If this amount is not claimed by you within three years of the date of serving of this notice, it will be forfeited to the Government.'

This difference in the rules seems to have been made to avoid a little extra work involved in determining the share of fees of each individual landlord, but on the other hand it has burdened the latter with too much unnecessary work, worry and expense, and the result has been that in many cases the joint-landlords choose to allow their dues to be forfeited instead of applying for the same. There are many difficulties in the way of making a joint application requesting the Collector to remit the whole amount to a selected individual, e.g., long distance at which the co-sharers live from one another, absence of good feeling amongst them and so forth; consequently this procedure is very seldom followed by the joint-landlords. The only other alternative is to make individual application before a duly constituted court. This means court-fees, revenue agent's fees, costs of producing evidence in support of one's claim and so on, all these again mean a lot of expenditure and finally when orders are passed for payment, there are many little expenses in the shape of tips here and there which the zamindar must make in order to bring the money safely and smoothly to his pocket. It will thus be seen, specially when the amount is not fairly big, that the worry and expenses involved in getting back his dues are not at all commensurate with the sum which is ultimately received by him. Sometimes the officer in charge insists that all the parties should appear at one and the same time.

Resolutions.

Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray ; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.

In that case it often happens that a co-sharer owning a small interest does not care to appear at all and so all hopes of receiving the payment have to be given up for ever. From a statement made by the Government in this Council, on the 13th March 1917, it appears that nearly 50 per cent. of the amount deposited with the Government, as landlords' fees of, in other words, about Rs. 6,30,000 have not yet been paid out to the landlords and there can be no doubt that a large portion of this has been already forfeited to the Government. This is surely a serious matter and in fairness and justice to the poor joint-landlords some steps should be taken at once to put a stop to this state of affairs. The easiest way to meet the situation, as it appears to me, is to so change the rules 27 and 28 as well as the forms of notices as to ensure that the individual share of the landlords' fees, amounting to annas four or more shall be transmitted to each of the co-sharers separately by money-order as in the case of a sole landlord. How the changes are to be effected, I leave it entirely in the hands of the Government. A suggestion however was made to the Government by a question in this Council on the 5th March 1917, in which it was suggested that rules could be made insisting that the transferees of and successors to permanent tenures shall state the share of interest of the several joint-landlords and shall deposit the requisite money-order commissions for the transmission of the landlords' fees to the respective landlords separately. But the Government then did not think it desirable to attempt to apportion the fees amongst the joint-landlords and to realise separate money-order commissions for the transmission of the same to each of them separately. The reply undoubtedly was disappointing, but I am disposed to think that this was made without fully realising the gravity of the whole situation. As for realising the requisite money-order commissions the law gives full powers to do so and with regard to the apportionment of the fees amongst the joint-landlords, the matter if carefully looked into will not appear at all difficult or cumbersome. A few technical changes in the rules and instructions to the officers concerned will enable the work to be carried on easily and smoothly as a matter of routine work. As a matter of practice, the notice forms are filled up by the person interested in the transfer ; while giving the names of his joint-landlords he could be asked to state the extent of their shares and the amount of fees to be remitted to each of them provided each individual share of fees is not less than annas four. He knows fully well the extent of share of each of his landlords and as he also knows the total amount of the landlords' fees to be paid by him, it would be quite easy for him to apportion the amount amongst them. The officers concerned could be instructed to compare the rent-receipts and check his statements in the deed of transfer as well as in the notices filled up by him. All this may appear to be a complicated affair on paper, but in practice the work will be quite easy and no one would be the worse for it. Even if the Government officers have to fill up the notices and apportion the fees, I should say that the Government should not hesitate to undertake a little extra work by which a real grievance of the joint-landlords is to be removed to an appreciable extent. In this connection it should be borne in mind that it is an Act passed by this Council which has deprived the zamindar of a vested right and though it has allowed some compensation for this in the shape of landlord's fees, the rules under the Act have been so made that he is practically debarred from obtaining them.

I have purposely limited the minimum of the transmissible amount to four annas in order to make my proposal practicable without causing any undue hardship either to the tenants or to the landlords. With these words, my Lord, I commend my resolution for the acceptance of the Council."

The Hon'ble the MAHARAJADHIRAJA BAHADUR OF BURDWAN said :—

"My Lord, the Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareshwar Ray has no doubt made out a strong case regarding the transmission of landlords' fees to joint-landlords. But I do not know whether he has considered the case in all its bearings. There are certain defects regarding these transmissions and I do not know that even by making the individual share of such fees to amount to annas 4 or more he will be able to get rid of the thing that he has in view. Further, I do not think that in a matter like this it is desirable for the landholding interest in this Council to bring up for discussion a matter of such importance to them without consulting their Associations or the bodies which they represent in this Council. I am sure the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell or the Member who will reply to this resolution will give us some valuable information. The Hon'ble Mover will then, I hope, withdraw his resolution for the present, bringing it forward again when we should have time to consider it in all its bearings."

The Hon'ble RAI MAHENDRA CHANDRA MITRA BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, I have to offer a few suggestions on the merits of the resolution. The difficulties of the joint-landlords in getting the amounts which are deposited in the treasury are many. In my opinion, the law has to be changed before such a resolution can be successfully moved. Under rule 24, a notice is issued by the Collector to the joint-landlords to withdraw the amounts on applications. There is no smooth sailing here, and the Collectors take care to have petitions wherein specific shares may be noted down. The only register which is known as the D Register is kept under the Land Registration Act. But, my Lord, in that register those landlords, the proprietors of tauzis, who have noted down their shares or, in other words, who have opened separate accounts are entitled to the fees according to the definite shares known to the Collector. There is nothing more to be found in the tauzi register which shows the area of the mauza. Consequently the Collector is not bound to rely upon the recitals which are to be found in the conveyance made by the transferor to the transferee. What then would be the guide for ascertaining the definite and specific share of the individuals who come under the category of the joint-landlords? Therefore, my Lord, it would be difficult for the Collector to allot to the individual landlord that so much is the amount due to him. Are we to understand then that the Collector would be sitting at judgment and ascertain the specific shares of the joint-landlords? Is the Collector to sit like the Civil Court to decide these very important questions? There are therefore various difficulties which have not been noticed by the Hon'ble Mover in introducing the motion. I consider, my Lord, that this question involves consequences serious to the interests of the landholding classes. The Hon'ble Mover himself is a landlord and will appreciate the difficulties in which he will place the landlords, because if he wishes the rule to be changed, the law ought to be changed at the same time. The rules are consistent with the law and I do not think that Government will be justified in altering the rules. I am very anxious also to look to the interests of the tenants as well as those of the landholders, although I do not represent the landholding interest in this Council. I have passed my days in law courts. Therefore, I can say that it is highly necessary that there should be an anxious desire on the part of the Government to look to the rules and also to various sections of the Land Registration, Bengal Tenancy and other Acts. I would therefore ask the Council to consider the serious consequences which will be involved if the resolution is accepted. I am sorry I am not in a position to support the resolution."

The Hon'ble BABU BHABENDRA CHANDRA RAY said :—

"My Lord, the vexed question about the landlords' fees which this resolution deals with came up on several occasions in this Council in the shape of questions. This, I think, is an indication that the people do not like the idea of large sums of money becoming forfeited to Government by the operation of certain cumbrous rules which are prescribed in the case of joint-landlords. On the 13th December, 1916, Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri drew attention of Government to the matter, and we learnt that a large proportion of the money received in three recent years were not paid out to the landlords. Then again on the 5th March last, the same Hon'ble Member asked as to whether the dues of individual joint-landlords could not be transmitted to them separately; and the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr stated in reply that Government did not consider it desirable to attempt to apportion landlords' fees among joint-landlords and to realise separate money-order commissions on that account.

The Hon'ble Babu Brojendra Kishor Ray Chaudhuri tried to ascertain, on the 13th March last, the amounts so far forfeited; and it appears from the reply that a little less than Rs. 4,000 have been actually forfeited in the Presidency and Burdwan Divisions since the enactment of section 18C of the Bengal Tenancy Act. The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr could not give the corresponding figures for the three Eastern Bengal divisions. But it would seem that the evil is greater in Eastern Bengal. For, I find at page 95 of the report of the Dacca University Committee that a suggestion was made that the cost of building a College for the well-to-do classes which was then proposed to form a part of the University at Dacca, might be met from the landlords' fees, presumably of Eastern Bengal,—'almost the whole of which' (I am quoting the exact words of the report here) 'become forfeit to Government under section 18C.'

My Lord, several questions have no doubt been asked on this point. But I do not remember to have seen any inquiry being made as to what percentage of the total amounts so far deposited as landlords' fees in each division represents the dues of joint-landlords, and what proportion of such dues has up-to-date been paid out to them upon joint application as prescribed by the rules. I hope Government will be able to enlighten us on this point. For, it is my firm belief that the amounts shown as paid out to the landlords do hardly include any payments to joint-landlords. If then we are agreed that the present system works to the loss of a large section of landlords, we must contrive some measures which will remedy the evil. The present resolution suggests a line on which an amendment of the rules may be undertaken, and it has therefore my support. I am not however unmindful of the fact that the suggestion if carried into effect will impose an additional obligation on the transferees of permanent tenures for payment of separate money-order fees, and may also increase the work of the clerical staff in the collectorates. But perhaps these elements would be unavoidable in any scheme of reform."

The Hon'ble BABU KISHORI MOHAN CHAUDHURI said :—

"My Lord, the resolution to my mind is a very simple matter and there is no difficulty in accepting it. In this matter, the transferor, the transferee and the landlords are all concerned. For the purpose of this resolution, rule 28 need only be amended. If the suggestion made by the Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur be accepted, some time may be taken in consulting the landholding interest as to the best means that may be adopted. I do not therefore find any difficulty in accepting this resolution. With these few observations I beg to support it."

Resolutions.

Mr. Beatson Bell.

The Hon'ble MR. BEATSON BELL said :—

"My Lord, several Hon'ble Members who have spoken to-day have referred to the difficulties as comparatively trivial. I am afraid they do not realise the facts. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that there is no branch of routine work in the collectorate which causes more worry and more loss of time and which hampers the administration to a greater degree than these few unobtrusive sections at the beginning of the Tenancy Act. I do not know if it is fully realised by the House that the sums in question are mostly of a very trivial amount. The fee in each case is two per cent. of the annual rent of the tenancy, or portion of a tenancy, which is sold, and there is a minimum of one rupee. In the vast majority of cases, the fee is only one rupee. This rupee is handed over in cash to the Sub-Registrar. The person or persons to whom the rupee is due are not present, and the Sub-Registrar has no legal power either to call them to his office or to send the money to them by a messenger. The whole machinery of Government—both the Local Government and the Imperial Government—must be set in motion in order to convey this rupee to its owner. Forms, registers, challans, receipts, monthly returns, annual returns, checks, counter-checks, inspections, reports, resolutions have to be written up in office after office. Yesterday I examined this branch of work in the Sub-Registrar's office at Alipore. I took up a case at random. The fee, as usual, was one rupee. I counted the number of columns which had to be filled up in the various forms. I discovered that before the rupee left the Sub-Registrar's office more than a hundred entries had to be made. Then the rupee found its way to the Collector's office and went into the Treasury. This necessitated a multitude of additional entries in the Accounts Department, the Treasurer's Department and the Munshi-khana. Finally, the rupee was "transferred to the postal account," and an Imperial Department took up the work. This is what happens in every case. After much writing in many offices a postal peon arrives at the landlord's house and offers him the rupee. In one case out of three he refuses to take it. Then the whole process has to be reversed, until the rupee finds its way back to the Collector's Treasury. In this description of the work I have said nothing of what goes on in the offices of the Accountant-General, the Inspector-General of Registration, the Post Master General, the Commissioner, the Board of Revenue and the Secretariat. It is no exaggeration to say that a single rupee has often to travel a hundred miles and to be the basis of five hundred entries in registers and forms. The whole thing would be ludicrous were it not for the fact that it clogs the general administration of the country. We have been trying for more than 30 years to simplify the system. Things are bad enough now, but they used to be far worse. What the Hon'ble Member now proposes is a move in the wrong direction. Far from simplifying the work he wants to increase it and to add to its complications. He wants us to treat every co-sharer landlord as we now treat single landlords. The initial difficulty, I need hardly say, is to ascertain the correct shares of the superior landlords and to distribute the small fee among them. Several gentlemen who have spoken think that this is perfectly simple. One speaker has drawn attention to the existence of Register D. This, however, would only be of use in the cases (which are comparatively rare) in which the tenancy in question falls direct under a zamindari interest. When the tenancy falls under an intermediate tenure, Register D will be useless. In such cases, unless there be a record-of-rights, it will be necessary to hold a local inquiry or to accept the names and shares as given (generally incorrectly) by the parties to the sale deed. Let us suppose, however, that we have got over all these preliminary difficulties. Let us suppose that we have evolved a list of landlords and shares on which the Collector is prepared to take action. Let us take a very simple example. Three annas of a certain howla have been sold. The Resolutions.

Mr. Beatson Bell ; Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray.

proportional rent of these three annas, as worked out by the transferor and the transferee, is Rs. 74-11-10. The superior landlords and their shares are as follows :—

	Annas.	Gandas.	Karas.	Krantis.	Tils.
Anando Chandra Das (Comilla) ...	1	17	2	2	13
Bankim Behary Banerji (Howrah) ...	3	14	...	1	7
Abdul Kadir and his three brothers (Dacca).	4	3	1	...	8
Tara Sundari Debi (Benares)	3	10	2	2	17
Krishna Das Mandal (Faridpur) ...	1	8	...	1	8
Syed Anwar Ali, Assistant Surgeon (Rangoon).	1	6	...	...	7
Total ...	16	...	...	...	...

Will any Hon'ble Member kindly tell the House what is the total fee which has to be divided among these gentlemen? Will any Hon'ble Member kindly tell the House which of these gentlemen, or groups of gentlemen will get more than four annas and which will get less? The fee, I may say, is Re. 1-7-11 ; but obviously none of us can say without paper and pencil and laborious calculation how much of it is due to each landlord. I must really protest against the proposal to add this enormous burden to the burden which already exists. It is not as if we were doing anything useful. Even if we succeed in distributing four anna bits to reluctant recipients all over India, the parties, in the great majority of cases, are no further forward. An entire tenancy is seldom sold : what is sold is a specific field or a specific share. The chief object of the transferee is not to inform his numerous landlords of the fact of his purchase, but to induce them to open a "separate account" in respect of that purchase. The process, which I have just described, is quite useless—and rightly so—in securing that object. The transferee has to begin again de novo, approaching the landlords one by one and settling with them by private negotiation.

Now, my Lord, speaking personally and as an old Settlement Officer, my practical suggestion is this. We are already considering an amendment of the Bengal Tenancy Act regarding the sale of raiyati holdings. Let us tackle the sale of permanent tenures along with the sale of raiyati holdings. Let us devise a simple and business-like procedure, applicable to both classes of tenancy, which will safeguard the interests of the landlords (whether joint or single) and will secure to them a reasonable rate of salami by a reasonable process of payment. The problem is difficult, but I am convinced that it is not insoluble. I therefore ask the Hon'ble Member not to press his present proposal, but to assist us in working out the larger scheme.

One word before I sit down. It is true that under the present chaotic system something like Rs. 50,000 comes to Government every year in the shape of undistributed fees. But I can assure the House that we are spending much more than that sum. Far from making money we are losing it. We are not only willing but anxious to see an early and drastic reform. The first step to that reform must be a change in the law, in the direction of ordinary common-sense."

The Hon'ble KUMAR SHIB SHEKHARESWAR RAY said :—

"My Lord, I am sorry to observe that the Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan has taken the fact into serious consideration that the great bodies of the zamindars have not been given an opportunity to consider the matter fully. I must say here that I have brought forward this resolution after consulting my constituency and also some leading landholders of the Dacca Division. In fact the matter has long been under the consideration of the zamindars and an acute feeling exists regarding it in our part of the country. If a reference is made to the figures supplied by the Government on the 13th March last, it will be seen that the divisions of Dacca and Rajshahi are the worst sufferers and that is why I have lost no time in bringing forward the resolution. The Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan, I am afraid, does not fully realise our difficulties, as his tenants are mostly pattanidars whose transfers are governed by different rules altogether.

Resolutions.

Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray: Mr. Rasul.

I have listened with interest to what has been said by the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell, but he has not said anything about the propriety of a forfeiture to the Government of a sum which does not belong to them, nor does he suggest any means by which the existing evil can be removed. However I am glad to find that I have been able to create a good deal of interest in this matter and I hope that both the Government and the interested public will look more seriously into this matter and when a stronger public opinion is formed, I hope to move the resolution again, though I sincerely hope that in the meantime the Government will themselves take proper steps and no action on our part will be necessary. With these few words, my Lord, I beg permission to withdraw the resolution."

The resolution was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 9.

The following resolution stood in the name of the Hon'ble Mr. A. RASUL :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that the 11th day of Magh (Maghutsab day) be declared by the Government to be a public holiday, under the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 (XXVI of 1881), throughout the Presidency of Bengal.

At the request of the Hon'ble Member, and by leave of the President, the discussion of the resolution was postponed to the next Calcutta meeting of the Council.

An Ordinance to provide for the acquisition of gold imported into British India.

WHEREAS an emergency has arisen which makes it necessary to provide for the acquisition by the Governor General in Council of gold imported into British India after the commencement of this Ordinance.

Sabang Bay—Alteration in Storm Signals.

No. 183 (first publication).—The following particulars, etc., relative to the above, issued by the British Admiralty (No. 471 of 1917), are republished:—

Position.—Penimpuan signal station, lat. 5° 54′ N., long. 95° 19½′ E.

In connection with the new system of storm signals recently brought into use at Indian ports, the former signals made at Sabang from Penimpuan signal station with regard to meteorological information for the Bay of Bengal, have been cancelled, and the following signals are now in force:—

1. No weather disturbances exist in the Bay of Bengal -

2. (a) There is a region of squally weather in which a storm may be forming.

(b) A storm has formed - - - - - - - -

In order to indicate the position of the disturbances described under paragraph 2 above, the Bay of Bengal is divided into six sections defined as follows:—

I.—Contains the area north of lat. 18½° N.;
II.—Lies south of I.; it is bounded on the south by lat. 13° N. and to the east by long. 88½° E.;

III.—Lies south of I. and east of II.; it is bounded to the south by lat. 13° N. and to the east by a line from the point lat. 13° N., long. 93° E. to Diamond Island together with the Arakan coast, thence up to lat. 18½° N.;

IV.—Lies south of II. and west of long. 86° E.;

V.—Lies east of IV., south of II. and III., and west of long. 93° E.;

VI.—Lies east of III. and V. and including the sea around the Andaman islands.

The following shapes have been allotted to each of the divisions:—

DIVISION	I	II	III	IV	V	VI
SIGNAL

The signals denoting position will be hoisted under the signal indicating the disturbance;

Thus if there is squally weather in section V. of the bay the signal would be hoisted at the various ports; and if a storm has formed in section II. the signal would be hoisted. If the centre of the storm is near the boundary of a division, two locality signals will be given the first indicating the division in which the centre is supposed to be and the second the neighbouring division near to which it is. In the event of a storm centre being near to the angles where three divisions meet, three locality signals will be hoisted. The first will give the division in which the storm is supposed to be, the second the nearest adjoining division and the third the remaining division.

The data for these signals will be received at Sabang from the wireless station at Port Blair. Two balls placed vertically will denote that the last weather signal was not received; a request can be made for the last received weather signal by means of flags, Morse signals or wireless. Reply will be made free of charge by means of long distance signals or Morse signals; if the reply is made by wireless the charge will be made through Lloyd's Agents at Sabang at the usual tariff.

MONTHLY WEATHER AND CROP REPORT OF BENGAL FOR JUNE 1917.

I. Character of the season.—During the month under report heavy rain fell throughout the province, being in excess of the normal in sixteen districts. In Murshidabad, Hooghly, Rajshahi, Dinajpur, Bogra, Dacca, Mymensingh, Bakarganj, Tippera, Noakhali and the Chittagong Hill Tracts the fall was light to moderate. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of agricultural operations.—Sowing of winter paddy in seed-beds was in full swing during the first part of the month. During the latter part the transplantation of seedlings was proceeded with. Weeding of autumn paddy and jute was in progress in Western Bengal districts. Early autumn paddy and summer til crops were harvested in parts of Eastern Bengal.

III. State of standing crops.—During the second week of the month the standing crops in parts of Midnapore district suffered rather heavily from floods in the river Cossye: except for this the weather during the month has been, on the whole, favourable.

IV. Prospects and probable outturn.—The prospects of standing crops are reported to be fairly good.

V. Damage to standing crops.—Some damage to standing crops from floods was, as stated above, reported from parts of Midnapore. Parts of Jessore suffered through heavy rain and insect-pests.

VI. Condition of agricultural stock.—The condition of agricultural stocks was reported to be fair. The number of districts in which cattle-disease prevailed during the month varied from 7 to 9.

VII. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—Fodder is reported to be getting scarce in the low-lying tracts of Hooghly and Dacca.

VIII. Prices of food-grains.—During the second fortnight of the month under review prices of common rice rose in 8 districts, fell in 4, and remained stationary in the rest. It varied from 11 seers 8 chitaks per rupee at Sari to 7 seers 14 chitaks at Comilla.

IX. Condition of the agricultural population.—The condition of agricultural population was reported to be fairly good.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Preliminary Forecast of the Jute Crop for 1917.

(Note.—On an average of five years ending 1914-15, the area under jute to which this forecast relates represents 87·7 per cent. of the total area under jute in British India.)

THIS forecast deals with the estimates of areas sown and the present condition of the crop, based on information received through the agency of the panchayats as in previous years.

Area Sown.—The returns show a decrease of 23,742 acres or about 1 per cent. from last year's final figures. The districts reporting marked decreases are:—Dacca, Faridpur, Pabna and Jessore. The decreases are attributed to (1) scarcity of seed and (2) expectations of a fall in prices. Appreciable increases have been returned from Midnapore, Noakhali, Tippera, Bakarganj, Malda, Khulna and Howrah.

Character of the Season.—The season has been generally favourable throughout the Presidency from the time of sowing up to the present moment, and calls for little comment. In a few districts the rainfall at the commencement of the season was barely sufficient for sowing requirements, but this has been fully made up by the favourable season which followed. Some damage by insects and floods has been reported from a few places.

Prospects.—The crop appears to be a good one all over.

Stocks in Hand.—There seems to be a fair amount of jute remaining in the districts. The following three important districts report considerable stocks in hand, viz., Mymensingh, Rangpur and Faridpur, while the remainder report that little remains. A fair amount appears to be held in Calcutta.

APPENDIX I.

Preliminary Jute Forecast of 1917.

District.	Estimated area under jute—		Whether much, little or no jute remains in the district from the crop of 1916.	Date by which the sowing of the crop generally commenced this year, and whether the date was early, normal or late.	Remarks by District Officers.
	Last year.	This year.
1	2	3	4	5	6
	Acres.	Acres.
24-Parganas	67,633	59,602	Very little	In Barrackpore and Basirhat subdivisions sowing commenced in May (late). It was normal in other subdivisions.	Decrease due to want of timely rain in the Barasat subdivision and to fall in the price of jute last year. The weather at sowing time has not been uniformly favourable in all subdivisions, but the present conditions are favourable to the growth of the crop. Slight damage is reported to have been done to the crop by insects at places in the Basirhat subdivision.
Nadia	67,165	63,818	Little	Middle of May; normal.	The weather has been favourable. The present condition of the crop is good.
Murshidabad	28,169	26,017	Jangipur subdivision, 2 annas; elsewhere, little.	May to June	The decrease in area is due to the fact that good price was not obtained for jute last year and also because some bhadoi paddy lands were cultivated with jute last year, owing to want of timely rain for the sowing of bhadoi paddy. Weather was favourable at the beginning of sowing, but dry weather later slightly retarded sowing. Want of rain at the subsequent stage had an unfavourable effect, but rainfall later on facilitated sowing and improved the growth of the crop. Drought and the insect called urchanga caused slight damage at Lalbagh subdivision. Present condition is reported to be good.
Jessore	85,044	70,056	Little	April and May; normal.	The decrease in area is due to the shortage of freight caused by the war. The weather has been favourable, but the recent heavy rains have slightly affected the growth of the crop. Insect pests have also caused slight damage in the Sangaon subdivision. The present condition of the crop is fair.
Khulna	23,111	27,704	Little	Beginning of April ...	The increase in area sown is due to the failure of the paddy crop last year. The weather was unfavourable at the beginning, but it is favourable now. The crop is reported to be fair.
Burdwan	6,913	6,155	Much remains of last year's crop.	Second week of May; normal.	The decrease in area is due to depression in the jute market on account of the war. The weather was favourable, though not so in the Kalna subdivision at the beginning of sowing. The effect of weather on the growth of the crop is good. The present condition of the crop is said to be excellent.
Midnapore	12,062	13,540	None	Commenced in May; normal.	The increase is due to timely rain at the sowing season. The weather has been favourable and its effect on the growth of the crop has been such, except in areas flooded in the Panchkura and Tamluk thanas, where some damage has been caused by the bursting of the Cossye left embankment. The present condition of the crop is reported to be good.
Hooghly	33,810	32,153	Little	Ditto ditto ...	The decrease in area is reported to be due to heavy rain at the sowing time. The weather has on the whole been favourable and its effect on the growth of the crop has also been good. The present condition of the crop is reported to be fair.
Howrah	10,887	13,653	Little	First week of May; normal.	The increase in area is due to timely rainfall. The weather was favourable at the sowing time, but now it is unfavourable, particularly to the low-land crops owing to excessive rainfall which retarded the growth of the crop. The present condition of the crop is reported to be very fair on high lands, but not good on low lands.
Rajshahi	75,800	76,800	Little	On low lands early in March and on high lands by the middle of April.	The weather was favourable at the sowing time and its effect is good on the growth of the crop. The present condition of the crop is reported to be good.
Dinajpur	67,200	61,700	Little	End of April to 1st week of May; late.	The decrease in area is due partly to want of timely rainfall at sowing time and partly to low price of jute. The weather was not favourable at sowing time, but now it is favourable. The present condition of the crop is fair.
Jalpaiguri	48,240	49,148	None	The latter part of April; normal.	The increase in area is due to the reclamation of waste land and to a slight rise in the jute market. The weather was favourable at the sowing time and its effect has been such on the growth of the crop. The present condition of the crop is reported to be fair.
Darjeeling	2,945	2,562	None	Second week of April; late.	The decrease in area is due to drought at the sowing time. The weather at the beginning was not favourable and its effect has subsequently been to stunt the growth of the crop. The present condition of the crop is reported to be not good.

District.	Estimated area under jute—		Whether much, little or no jute remains in the district from the crop of 1916.	Date by which the sowing of the crop generally commenced this year, and whether the date was early, normal or late.	Remarks by District Officers.
	Last year.	This year.
1	2	3	4	5	6
	Acres.	Acres.
Rangpur	243,618	250 381	About one-fourth of the crop.	Beginning of April; late.	The increase in area is due to the ryots expecting a larger profit from jute this year. The weather was somewhat favourable at sowing time. There has been alternate heavy rain and sunny weather which favoured the growth of the crop. The present condition of the crop is reported to be highly satisfactory.
Bogra	66,000	64,786	Little	Middle of March; normal.	The present condition of the crop is reported to be good.
Pabna	134,425	119,000	Little	Last week of March to second week of April; a little late.	The decrease in area is due to the fact that owing to damage caused by flood and heavy rain in August, the cultivators could not preserve their seeds and were unable to purchase seeds this year, on account of the rise in price. Besides, as some jute still remained in the hands of the cultivators in places, they believed that jute fibre would not be in demand this year. In some places the cultivators could not sow their seeds for want of timely rain. At present the weather is favourable for the crop. A little damage has been done by the recent rain on low lands.
Malda	28,300	34,000	Little	May; normal	Last year about 31,000 acres were sown with jute, but about 25 per cent. of the crop was damaged owing to excessive rain and flood. The area was therefore subsequently reduced to 23,300 acres. The increase in area this year (about 3,000 acres over last year) is due to favourable weather.
Dacca	381,116	362,083	Little	Middle of March; normal.	The decrease in area is obviously due to scarcity and high price of seeds and also owing to an apprehension that the market will be dull this year owing to difficulties in shipping. The sowing was considerably hampered owing to drought at the sowing time. Some damage was also caused by hailstorm in the Munshiganj subdivision. The present condition is very promising.
Mymensingh	587,911	579,603	March	Middle of April; Late	The decrease in area is due to scarcity of seeds and also to want of rain at the sowing time. But subsequently, owing to copious rain, the weather has been generally favourable and the present condition of the crop is promising.
Faridpur	214,300	200,000	Considerable	Middle of April; normal.	The decrease in area is due to a fall in the jute market and to apprehension of a reduction of sale owing to suspension of export and consequent accumulation of a considerable stock in the hands of the jute merchants. The weather was dry at sowing time, but has since been favourable.
Bakarganj	49,350	57,000	Little	March; normal ...	The increase in area is due to very favourable weather at the sowing time. The present condition of the crop is good.
Chittagong	200	200	Nil	Middle of April to middle of May; normal.	The weather has been normal.
Tippera	196,517	223,175	Very little with the cultivators, but there are stocks in the hands of middlemen left over from last year.	Early in March ...	The increase in area is due to higher and steady price of last year. The weather has been favourable, and the present condition of the crop is good.
Noakhali	27,075	32,500	None	Early part of March; unusually early.	The increase in area is due to the fact that there has been a steady market throughout the year, and the whole of the crop of last year has been disposed of at fair prices. The weather has been unusually favourable, and the present condition of the crop is good.
Total for Bengal ...	2,351,891	2,323,640
Add for Cooch Behar ...	31,741	36,180	Little	.....	The increase in area is due to favourable weather condition at sowing time and to better price obtained for last year's jute. The weather has been favourable on the whole.
Grand Total ...	2,383,632	2,359,820

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BIHAR AND ORISSA.

Preliminary forecast of the Jute Crop of Bihar and Orissa, 1917.

(NOTE—On an average of the five years ending 1914-15 the area under jute to which the Bihar and Orissa forecast relates represents about 9·3 per cent. of the total area under jute in British India.)

THE present forecast deals only with the estimated area sown. It gives also a general survey of prospects, but makes no reference to the probable outturn either in percentage figures or in bales.

2. Acreage.—The estimated area sown during the current and four preceding years in round numbers is given below :—

Year.	Acreage.
1913	318,400
1914	330,100
1915	188,100
1916	224,000
1917	222,700

3. Weather conditions.—In March the rainfall was above the normal in Champaran, Bhagalpur and Balasore and slightly below the normal in the remaining four jute districts. In April the rainfall was below the normal and in May it was above the normal in all jute districts. The rainfall in June was slightly below the normal in Bhagalpur and the Santal Parganas and above the normal in the remaining districts. Weather conditions are reported not to have been quite favourable in the important districts of Purnea and Cuttack.

4. District returns.—The total area under jute as reported by the District Officers is estimated in round numbers at 222,700 acres as compared with 224,000 acres of last year.

5. Condition and prospects.—The condition of the crop is reported to be promising.

6. General.—Little jute from the crop of 1916 remains in the districts.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, ASSAM.

First Forecast of the Jute Crop in Assam, 1917.

[NOTE.—On the average of the five years ending 1914-15, the area under jute in Assam represent some 3·0 per cent. of the total area under jute in British India.]

1. Character of the season.—The rainfall in February exceeded the average considerably in the Surma Valley and Upper Assam Valley, but March was much drier than usual. The April rainfall was about normal except in the Lower Assam Valley, where it was exceptionally dry. In May rain was generally much lighter than usual, while in June it was much heavier. On the whole, the weather was not favourable at the time of sowing, except apparently in Sylhet according to the Deputy Commissioner's report, but it improved subsequently.

2. Area sown.—The area for the province, as estimated by the Deputy Commissioners, comes to 76,700 acres or about 5 per cent. over that of last year. Increases are reported from Sylhet, Goalpara, Kamrup, Nowgong and Garo Hills and are mainly due to the better prices obtained last year.

3. Stocks.—It appears from the Deputy Commissioners' reports that little jute remains in the hands of traders except in Goalpara.

Director of Land Records and Agriculture, Assam.

APPENDIX I.

First Forecast of Jute Crop, 1917.

DISTRICT.	Normal area under jute.	ESTIMATED AREA UNDER JUTE.		Whether much, little or no jute remains in the district from the crop of 1916.	Date by which the sowing of the crop generally commenced this year and whether that date was early, normal or late.	REMARKS BY DEPUTY COMMISSIONERS.
		Last year.	This year.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
Cachar ...	300	200	200	No	First part of April; normal.	The weather at sowing time was dry and retarded germination and early growth; since then it has been favourable and the condition of the crop is fair. The crop was sown in normal time and has been completed. It appears to be somewhat worse than that of last year.
Sylhet ...	16,000	11,600	14,000	Little	End of March; normal.	The weather was favourable and the condition of the crop is good. The sowings were in normal time and have been completed. The crop is expected to be better than last year. The increase in area is due to favourable weather.
Goalpara ...	42,400	36,000	38,200	Much jute remains in the hands of the traders, except in the Goalpara Subdivision and the Eastern Duars.	March; normal ...	The weather was not favourable. The area sown would have been much increased but for want of timely rain. The condition of the crop is fair, but worse than in last year.
Kamrup ...	8,100	7,800	7,800	Little	1st April; normal	The weather was favourable to the crop and prospects are better than last year. The increase in area is due to better prices and new Muhammadan settlers. Sowings have been completed.
Darrang ...	7,000	8,000	7,100	Little	Mid. April; normal.	The weather was on the whole favourable in Tezpur, but there was practically no rain at the sowing time in Mangaldai Subdivision. The condition of the crop is good and a better yield is expected. The area is a little above that sown in the final forecast of last year.
Nowgong ...	5,700	4,700	5,600	Little	1st April; early ...	The weather at present is favourable to the crop although it was not so at the beginning. The condition of the crop is fair and is expected to be better than last year. The increase in area is due to the extension of cultivation by foreigners and better market price.
Sibsagar ...	300	500	400	No	First week of April; normal.	The weather was not favourable and the crop is on the whole worse than of last year. The sowings began in normal time and have been completed. The decrease in area is due to excessive rain at the time of breaking up the land.
Lakhimpur ...	200	100	100	No	1st April; normal	Although the weather was not favourable, the condition of the crop is fair, but worse than last year. Many people are, owing to the dull market for jute, taking to paddy cultivation and hence the small area under the crop.
Garo Hills ...	4,100	4,000	3,300	A little	First week of May; late.	The weather was not favourable as there was practically no timely rainfall. The sowing of the crop was late owing to want of rain. The condition of the crop is fair, but apprehended to be a little worse than the previous year's crop. The increase in area is due to good prices in jute being secured last year.
Total ...	84,100	73,100	76,700

Memo. by—D. H. LEES, ESQ., I.C.S., Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

COPY, with copies of the enclosures, submitted to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department, Municipal Branch.

No. 976G., dated Howrah, the 26th June 1917.

Memo. by—The Magistrate of Howrah.

COPY, with the copies of the enclosures, forwarded to the Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

No. 757G., dated Howrah, the 20th June 1917.

From—THE HON'BLE BABU MAHENDRA NATH RAY, M.A., B.L., C.I.E., Chairman of the Howrah Municipality,
To—The Magistrate of Howrah.

As requested in your letter No. 712G., dated the 30th May 1917, I have the honour to submit herewith two statements showing the warehouses licensed under the Fire Brigade Act (Act I of 1893) and receipts and disbursements on account of the same.

The scale of fees levied under section 10 of the Act on warehouses continued to be the same as that reported in this office letter No. 615G., dated the 9th June 1916, except that for warehouses for the storage of hemp, which, under a Resolution of the Commissioners at a meeting held on the 18th August 1916, was assessed at 2 per cent. of the annual valuation. In view of a further increase demanded in the contribution of this Municipality for the maintenance of the Fire Brigade, it will be necessary to revise the present rates.

The collection of fees works out to 82 per cent., of the current demand and 26 per cent. of the arrear demand, as against 86 per cent. of the current demand and 46·3 per cent. of the arrear demand reported last year. The result is mainly due to the closure of certain mills under conditions caused to a certain extent by the present war.

The direction contained in the first proviso to section 10 of the Act has been followed.

RESOLUTION ON THE SANITARY AND VACCINATION REPORTS, BENGAL.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT.

SANITATION.

CALCUTTA, THE 17TH JULY 1917.

RESOLUTION—No. 455 San.

READ—

The Reports of the Sanitary Commissioner, the Sanitary Board, and the Sanitary Engineer, Bengal, for the year 1916.

READ ALSO—

The Annual Statistical Returns and Short Notes on Vaccination in Bengal for the year 1916-17.

General Results.—In the Resolution of this Government reviewing the Report of the Sanitary Commissioner for 1915, it was observed that that year was the worst of a cycle of bad years, the result being that Bengal sustained a loss of population for the first time since 1892. The Governor in Council is pleased to observe that the record for 1916 is very different, there being an excess of births over deaths amounting to 204,571. This is the largest annual increase registered since 1912 and more than compensates for the decrease recorded in 1915. The recovery was the combined result of a slightly enhanced birth-rate and of a considerable decrease in mortality from almost every cause, and more especially from cholera, small-pox and fever. The rainfall was generally well distributed and ample in amount; the outturn of the rice crop, on which the agricultural prosperity of the Presidency mainly depends, was good. As a result of these favourable conditions, there was an increase of the natural population throughout the Presidency. Though small in West and North Bengal, it was large in Eastern Bengal, the growth of population being 9 per mille in the Dacca Division and 14½ per mille in the Chittagong Division.

2. Birth-rate.—The birth-rate rose from 31·80 to 31·89 per mille. The actual increase in the number of births is extremely small, but it is satisfactory that the check to the natural growth of the population has been stayed, and that the decrease of 2 per mille returned in 1915 has given place to an increase.

3. Death-rate.—Compared with 1915, the number of deaths decreased by nearly a quarter of a million, the death-rate falling from 32·83 per mille to 27·37 per mille. The mortality from every cause was lower, and the decrease was shared in by all areas, whether urban, rural, or combined urban and rural, while the mortality, both from fever and cholera, was the lowest on record since the creation of the Presidency in 1912.

There was a further satisfactory decline in infant mortality, the ratio which deaths in the first year of life bear to births falling from 21·89 per cent. to 19·53 per cent. In only one district, as against six last year, was the proportion of infant mortality higher than 25 per cent., and the district ratio in this case was considerably less than the maximum of the previous year.

4. Accuracy of the vital statistics.—The margin of error in vital statistics due to defective registration still persists. Comparison on a large scale of the returns obtained by Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors of Vaccination with entries in the thana registers reveal a deficiency averaging 2·58 per cent. in the case of births and 1·93 per cent. in the case of deaths, while in two districts one out of every 10 births escaped registration. The Sanitary Commissioner reports that there has been some improvement in towns, but from the abnormally low birth-rates reported in some towns, e.g., 3·92 per mille in Jessore, 4·53 per mille in Barrackpore, and 4·80 per mille in Sirajganj, it is clear that the return for towns are still very incomplete and that a large number of births are unreported. A remarkable instance of the improvement which can be effected by employing the powers permitted by law is afforded by the town of Asansol, where the reported birth-rate rose from 6·02 per mille in 1915 to 21·89 per mille in 1916 owing to a number of prosecutions being instituted for neglect to register vital occurrences. The Sanitary Commissioner rightly observes that—

"Unless Municipal Commissioners show an active interest in the matter and take proper steps to ensure correct registration, the vital statistics of Bengal towns will continue defective."

During the year under review the Governor in Council impressed upon municipal authorities the necessity for discharging their duties in this matter, and instructions were issued to Commissioners and District Officers that during their inspections they should examine the adequacy of the arrangements made for registration.

5. Fever.—The total number of deaths reported from fever was 909,880 compared with 1,064,159 in the previous year, and was considerably below the annual average of 986,443 returned for the five years 1911-1915. This head of the statistics includes deaths from various febrile diseases or ailments accompanied by a rise of temperature; and it is impossible to discriminate deaths due to fevers of malarial origin.

The decline in mortality is attributed by the Sanitary Commissioner to heavy seasonal rainfall and to the effects of inundations in many places, a view in which he is supported by a consensus of opinion among Civil Surgeons. In Birbhum, which in 1915 returned the highest mortality from fever, and in which malarial fever was said to have raged with unabated fury since 1912, the disease is reported to have been conspicuous by its absence as the result of unusually heavy rain and extensive inundation.

The decrease in mortality was more marked in rural than in urban areas, but in the towns the fever death-rate (6·93 per mille) remains less than a third of what it is in rural areas (20·97 per mille).

6. Anti-malarial measures.—The ordinary anti-malarial measures conducted by Government and local bodies were continued throughout the year, the only change being that the expenditure usually incurred by Government in deputing itinerant Sub-Assistant Surgeons was devoted to the free distribution of quinine through the District Boards in districts in which malaria was rife. The distribution of quinine to school children in certain areas in the Burdwan Division resulted in a considerable increase in the percentage of attendance.

Towards the close of the year a beginning was made with three out of four schemes designed by Dr. Bentley as experiments in anti-malarial operations. These schemes are to be carried out in areas with varying physical conditions, so that it may be possible to predicate what measures are likely to be successful for the prevention and mitigation of malaria in different parts of the Presidency. Two of the experiments are to be made in the deltaic tracts, viz., one in a rural area in the Bardwan district and the other in the town of Jangipur in the Murshidabad district. The Sanitary Commissioner describes these schemes as follows :—

"In the Burdwan and Jangipur schemes the idea is to take in the silt-laden waters of the Damodar and Bhagirathi rivers, respectively, during the floods so as to reduce what is called areas of mosquito-breeding edges by converting a large number of small pools into a big sheet of water, and at the same time to enrich the soil by allowing the silt to deposit on agricultural land. By constructing a series of regulators and sluices, it is arranged to control the flood water, so as to allow only a sufficient quantity that may benefit the crops and not drown them; and at the same time only the silt and not the sand may be deposited on agricultural land—a special method technically known as 'Bonificazione.' By this method it is also contrived to flush out old insanitary tanks and ditches, and in course of time to silt them up."

7. The basis of the third experiment is a system of subsoil drainage, which has been successful in Panama and the Federated Malay States, but has not been attempted in Bengal in connection with anti-malarial operations. This experiment is to be made on a colliery situated at Singaram in the Burdwan district, in the rolling upland country which covers a large area in West Bengal ; and a fourth will be carried out at the Meenglass tea estate in the submontane region in the district of Jalpaiguri. In these latter tracts the chief carriers of malaria are believed to be stream-breeding mosquitoes which differ in their habits from the common carriers of malaria met with in deltaic areas. The two schemes have been specially drawn up with the object of ascertaining the best method of dealing with these mosquitoes and determining the minimum area round a village that must be controlled in order to bring about a reduction of malaria.

At Meenglass the hill streams, in which a dangerous species of anopheline mosquito breeds, will be put underground, the water being carried off in subsoil drains when the flow becomes sluggish, while the storm flow is allowed to pass over them in the usual stream channels. The Singaram scheme consists of two parts, viz., (1) a thorough surface drainage of the area to be experimented on, and (2) the periodical flushing of a small river in which malaria-carrying mosquitoes of a vicious character breed. The object of the first part is to drain away pools and depressions in which malaria-carrying mosquitoes breed: that of the second is to substitute a series of flushes in the river instead of a sluggish flow, for it has been ascertained that mosquitoes breed along its edge when the flow is gentle, but when the river is in flood their eggs and larvae are carried away. It is therefore proposed to construct a weir with sluices so arranged that, when the sluices are closed, a head of water will be accumulated behind the weir, and this will be periodically discharged so as to flush the bed of the rivulet. It is hoped that three of the schemes will be completed during the current year ; and the Governor in Council looks forward to the results of the experiments with much interest.

8. Stegomyia Enquiry.—A conference was convened by Government in November 1916 to consider the measures necessary to establish homogeneous sanitary control throughout the port of Calcutta, with special reference to the question of taking measures to prevent the introduction of yellow fever through the medium of the stegomyia mosquito in consequence of the opening of the Panama Canal.

9. Cholera.—Owing to the absence of virulent epidemics, which is attributed to copious and seasonable rainfall, the number of deaths from cholera fell from 130,679, which is the highest figure as yet recorded in the Presidency, to 70,836, which is the minimum on record. Steps were taken by District Boards to cope with cholera outbreaks by the disinfection of wells and the appointment of itinerant doctors ; but the Sanitary Commissioner is of opinion that much cannot be expected till all the District Boards possess a proper sanitary organization. The question of the reorganization of the sanitary staff employed by these bodies is now under consideration.

10. Small-pox.—It is satisfactory to find that the steady rise in mortality from small-pox, which culminated in 32,785 deaths in 1915, has been checked, the number of deaths reported in 1916 falling to 13,890. The highest district death-rate was returned by Bankura, viz., 1·32 per mille. The Civil Surgeon attributes the outbreak in that district to the fact that most of the sources of water-supply in the villages had dried up owing to the failure of the rains in the preceding year. Calcutta, which suffered from a virulent outbreak of the disease in 1915, was almost immune, only 58 deaths being returned.

11. Vaccination.—The total number of persons returned as having been vaccinated during the year 1916-17 was 1,598,428 as against 1,635,621 during the previous year. The decrease is said to be due chiefly to the stricter supervision exercised by inspectors and sub-inspectors of vaccination over the work of the vaccinators and by Deputy Sanitary Commissioners over the work of both, the effect being to check the temptation to submit false figures. Free vaccination at the cost of the District Boards was introduced as an experimental measure in one thana of the Faridpur district, and was continued with satisfactory results in the 24-Parganas and the Sadar subdivision of Bakarganj. A large number of persons were operated on who had not been vaccinated before and vaccination was introduced in villages which had hitherto objected to it. In the towns 642 per mille of the surviving infant population was reported to be protected ; but the Sanitary Commissioner doubts the correctness of these figures and states that a new method of inspection which was introduced under his orders has brought to light the fact that in many districts from one-third to one-half of the children under five years of age escaped vaccination.

12. Plague.—The mortality from plague continued to diminish, the total number of deaths being 110, of which 78 occurred in Calcutta and 22 at Sainthia in the district of Birbhum. A sharp outbreak at the latter place, which is believed to have been due to the importation of the disease by Marwari traders, was successfully localised. The total number of deaths during the year is the lowest on record ; and the Presidency was entirely free from plague during the last five months of the year.

13. The Sanitary Board.—The Sanitary Board continued to do useful work. Besides advising on a number of sanitary questions of considerable importance, it considered and submitted to Government sketch projects for three drainage works and four schemes of water-supply, of which the total cost is estimated at Rs. 9,76,581.

14. Sanitary Improvements.—The total expenditure incurred on sanitary works executed during the financial year 1915-16 by Government, Municipalities, District Boards and private individuals is estimated at Rs. 14,60,006. Sanitary works were, as usual, carried out in the villages through the agency of District and Local Boards and Union Committees, but the Sanitary Commissioner reports that the complaint is almost universal that the villagers do not understand the importance of sanitary measures and are reluctant to contribute to their cost.

The total expenditure on sanitary engineering works during the calendar year 1916 is reported to have been Rs. 4,61,894, or nearly 3 lakhs less than in the previous year. The decrease is due to the unfavourable financial situation consequent on the war. The greater part of the expenditure was, as usual, devoted to water-supply. Water-works were completed at Chittagong and Bankura, and schemes for the improvement of the urban water-supply were under construction at Howrah, Barisal, Berhampore and Burdwan. Drainage schemes were fully completed at Katwa and partially completed at Burdwan and Bhadreswar, while others were under construction at Howrah, Bhatpara, Garden Reach and Tangail. The general results of the year are summarized as follows by the Sanitary Engineer :—

"Although the amount spent on sanitary engineering works during the year was small, the year was one of slow but steady progress. There was a considerable increase in the number of persons supplied with water and in the quantity of filtered water given. A number of important projects were prepared, and there should be no difficulty in carrying out an extensive project of sanitary engineering works in this province when financial equilibrium is restored."

A valuable indication is given by the Sanitary Engineer of the effect which the metering of house connections has on the consumption of water in towns. In Barisal it is reported that, as the result of allowing 51 metered house connections, no increase has been caused in the consumption per capita, although this is less than 3 gallons per head of the population served, whereas at Hooghly-Chinsura the consumption per head has increased from 4·81 gallons per head in 1914 to 11·29 gallons per head in 1916, concomitantly with the grant of unmetered house connections. The Sanitary Engineer estimates that in this latter municipality one-eighth of the inhabitants are consuming more than one-half of the water supplied. The Governor in Council regards it as a most un-satisfactory feature of the management of municipal water-works, constructed with the help of grants from Government, that Municipal Boards should neglect the rules which have been framed in the general interest for the regulation of private connections so as to secure a fair distribution of the supply among all classes.

15. Sanitary Officers.—Progress has been made in the appointment of sanitary officers in municipalities under the Sanitary Officers, Bengal, Act II of 1914, though there was for some time a disposition on the part of certain municipalities to defer making appointments until orders were passed on appeals to Government for grants-in-aid. The Governor in Council had therefore occasion to point out that the appointment of sanitary officers is now a statutory obligation, which must be discharged irrespective of the decision of Government on requests for financial assistance.

All District Boards are also required by law to appoint a Sanitary Inspector, but there is at present no adequate definition of his duties, and rules prescribing the qualifications to be required for appointment have not yet been prescribed. The result has been considerable variety in the duties performed by the Sanitary Inspectors, and the scope of their work appears in some cases to be unduly limited. The Governor in Council has recently consulted District Boards and local officers as to the qualifications and functions to be required of these officers.

16. Staff.—Dr. C. A. Bentley, M.B., D.P.H., was in charge of the office of Sanitary Commissioner, Bengal, and Mr. G. B. Williams of the office of Sanitary Engineer throughout the year. The Dacca Circle alone was under the charge of a Deputy Sanitary Commissioner throughout the year, but by the end of the year all the vacancies in the superior sanitary cadre, which had been caused by officers being required for military duty, had been filled. To both Dr. Bentley and Mr. Williams the thanks of the Governor in Council are due for their careful administration of their departments.
